CHANGE IN LOCATION FOR POSTOFFICE TO BE SOUGHT

Interests in Vicinity of East
Broadway and Glendale Ave.
Protest Ralphs Site

Real cash, it is declared, will be spent by business men in the vicinity of East Broadway and Glendale avenue to have the postoffice location changed, great chagrin being expressed at a meeting held yesterday noon in the White Inn by sixty merchants, bankers, city officials and others, when it was announced the Ralphs offer had been approved.

City Manager W. H. Reeves, a guest, broke the news to those present that plans are already under way for the postoffice building on West Broadway. Immediately words began to fly and a committee was sent to wait upon Captain D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster, who had nothing to do with the selection of the site, they later learned.

Discuss Improvements
The business men had gathered informally to co-ordinate the work of the East Broadway and Glendale Avenue Improvement Associations. Attorney Harry C. Levey, president of the latter, being present and addressing the banqueters on the work to be accomplished. Paving the avenue, electrification of the Union Pacific's branch line and kindred subjects were taken up and committees named on the Glendale hotel project, transportation, Glendale avenue improvements and another group to name the organization.

C. W. Ingledue is serving as temporary chairman and Herman Nelson is the secretary. Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman Davis and City Manager Reeves spoke on municipal problems affecting the section of the city represented.

Reading Circle Plans Memorial for Mrs. Burr

At the meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, held yesterday at the library, the president, Mrs. A. A. Barton, announced that the reading circle is planning a memorial for Mrs. R. T. Burr, who passed away last week. Mrs. Burr was one of the charter members of the Reading Circle and much of its success is due to her untiring efforts, it was stated.

The memorial will take the form of a picture, the frame of which will have a small engraved plate. The subject of the picture or the amount to be expended on it have not been decided, friends of Mrs. Burr wishing to contribute to this fund have been asked to see Mrs. Barton or Mrs. J. C. Danford, or other members of the circle.

At yesterday's meeting announcement was made that Mrs. Charles H. Toll will speak on behalf of the Reading Circle at the First District conference luncheon to be held Tuesday, April 4. Mrs. G. Dame read the article "It Takes a Heap of Living to Make a House a Home," by Edgar Guest, which was thoroughly enjoyed. The reading of the new book, "Mother Love Action," by Prudence Bradish, was begun yesterday by Mrs. A. A. Barton.

It was planned that in the near future a wild flower exhibit will be held by the circle, which will be in charge of Mrs. Mullen.

Traffic Man Replies To Railway's Threat

The Pacific Electric's threat to abandon proceedings for the installation of the proposed tunnel in Los Angeles, according to C. D. Gulick, municipal bus expert, is no argument against the granting of a permit for the operation of a bus line.

"This tunnel is not being built for the benefit of Glendale," stated Mr. Gulick. "It is being built solely for Los Angeles—to relieve the traffic congestion. The mere fact that Glendale happens to be on the line doesn't mean anything. Cutting down the running time ten minutes, won't give us as good running time as we will be able to make on the bus."

Mr. Gulick is now preparing a final brief to be submitted the last of this week to the Public Utilities Board of Los Angeles covering Glendale's attitude toward the bus line. This will reply to arguments submitted by the Pacific Electric.

"Licked yet?" inquired Mr. Gulick. "I should say not. So far as I can see there is nothing in their brief that states anything new."

Members of Madrigal Club in Song Festival

The members of the Madrigal club, of which Mrs. Charles Parker is director, took part in the festival of song at the Los Angeles district convention of Women's Clubs at Santa Monica yesterday. The numbers given by them were "Morning" (Oley Sparks), and "Minuet" (Patty Stair), which was also danced by the following members in Colonial costume: Mrs. H. V. Henry, Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Jr., Mrs. Charles Meadows and Mrs. Burris, with Mrs. J. A. Wright as accompanist.

Wanted: One Juror! Detective Kincaid Starts Upon Trail

The joke is on some one, that's sure. Judge F. H. Lowe requisitioned an additional juror for a case in police court this morning and Police Chief John D. Fraser sent Detective Sergeant Kincaid out on the quest.

"Get the first person you see out in front of the city hall who looks as though they weren't doing much these days," said the chief.

Out went Kincaid and espied a woman waiting in a motor car.

"You are summoned to serve on the jury tomorrow," he began.

"But, I can't," was the reply.

"Oh, yes you can if you want to," continued the sergeant a little more authoritatively.

"Well, I don't live here," she said with a smile.

"I will have to take your name and address," he added.

"Mrs. John D. Fraser of 4614 Finley street, Hollywood," he vaguely recollects hearing.

And everybody interested thinks that the chief was playing a practical joke on his wife—except the chief.

P. S.—Oh, yes! Sergeant Kincaid is a genuine go-getter. He got the juror demanded by Judge Lowe. No, the juror was NOT a woman.

Tropico Presbyterian Church Issues Call to Dr. J. F. Winnard

A call was extended to Dr. James F. Winnard of 461 Riverdale Drive at the annual congregational meeting of the Tropico Presbyterian church last night to accept the position of stated supply for a year. Dr. Winnard has supplied the pulpit several times recently and is at present pastor of the Mt. Washington Presbyterian church, Los Angeles. For fourteen years he served as Superintendent of Home Mission Work for the Synod of Florida.

The members of the congregation enjoyed a pleasant social time around the supper table and also the good meal, which had been arranged by Mrs. S. H. Wilcox, Mrs. S. E. Brown and Mrs. John Server, who were assisted in serving and otherwise by four members of the boys' class of the Sunday school, John Server, Neville Richardson, Harry Richardson and Baxter Andrews. There were about eighty present.

At the congregational meeting the following elders were elected: F. C. Richardson, 1300 South Central avenue; Harry St. Clair, 1250 South Maryland avenue; and S. H. Wilcox of 1924 Gardena avenue. The following trustees were also elected: H. L. Moody, S. E. Brown, Sam Brown, Leo D. Hyer and William Malcom. Ushers appointed were Leo Hyer, 1905 Gardena avenue; William F. Malcom, 210 West Palmer; William A. Russell, 334 Mira Loma and Edgar S. Calvert, 316 East Cypress.

Departments and society reports were given, showing that two new societies had been added during the year, the Men's club and the Junior C. E.

High School Board Election Tomorrow

No excitement is anticipated tomorrow when H. W. Varick of 347 West Wilson avenue and Mrs. Blanche A. Gardiner of Eagle Rock, the only candidates, will be re-elected to the high school board of trustees. "The civic obligation to register one's vote is just as binding as if there were a dozen candidates in the field," stated Principal George U. Moyle.

The polling place for the city of Glendale is the Hoehel Arts Building of Glendale Union High school. Polls will also be established in schoolhouses at Eagle Rock, Tujunga, La Crescenta and Monte Vista. The hours for voting are between 8 and 6 o'clock.

Officers of the election in Glendale are Clair J. Smith of 336 North Isabel street, inspector; Miss Cora Hickman, 336 West Park avenue, and Miss Daisy A. Findley, judges.

New Mount Purchased for Motorcycle Officer

Look out, speed demons! Motorcycle Officer Moran H. Snyder is awaiting the arrival of a new motorcycle with a special police motor which was purchased Monday.

Motorcycle Officer Merle Collins says that his own "horse" is no snail, either.

The machine formerly ridden by Walter Trautwein is to be kept at police headquarters for emergency calls.

W. C. T. U. MEETS FRIDAY

The regular meeting of the Glendale W. C. T. U. will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edith Dockery, 723 South Louise street. Mrs. H. G. Hahn of Alexandropol, Armenia, will speak on the Near East Relief.

HUNDREDS TO MAKE HALF MILLION MARK RELIGIOUS COUNT IN CITY FRIDAY ALREADY PASSED FOR BUILDING

Complete Census for Churches
To Be Completed in Two Hours or Less, the Plan

Tomorrow is visitation day! All Glendale homes will be visited between 2 and 4 o'clock by representatives of the religious interests of the community.

The purpose is to make a religious census of Glendale.

The campaign is under the direction of J. Shreve Durham of the International Sunday School association.

"More than 700 workers will take part in the work tomorrow afternoon," stated Mr. Durham. "The first call was for 600 volunteers and it is a great credit that over 100 more than this number responded. All will be needed, however, and it is hoped that several hundred more people will come with those who have agreed already to take part."

Quick Action Sought
"It would be a mighty fine thing to complete the work in one hour instead of two as first planned."

"All the people of Glendale are urged to remain home tomorrow afternoon between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock to receive the visitors and give them the simple information desired. Where there are boarders who will not be at their boarding places, they are urged to leave their church connections with their landlady."

"A very important and interesting meeting will be held tonight in the auditorium of Glendale Union high school."

"Local leaders believe the plan and spirit of the work will bring one of the greatest blessings to all the people of Glendale."

Headquarters Chosen
Eight headquarters have been established for the campaign and a citizen placed in charge of each. These are: Dr. Harry St. Clair, 1250 South Maryland avenue, Tropico Presbyterian church; Henry M. Doll, 727 South Louise street, Church of the Holy Family; George McLoughlin, 443 West Wilson street, Pacific Avenue Methodist church; A. M. Yale, 205 West Doran street, Central Christian church; Roy D. King, 220 North Belmont street, Presbyterian church; W. B. Kirk, 504 East Broadway, Congregational church; W. A. Horn, 221 North Louise street, Baptist church; A. W. Tower, 214 East Park avenue and H. E. Fry, 333 West Corcoran street, Casa Cerrada Methodist church.

Glendale Chapter of White Shrine Formed

The institution of the Glendale Chapter of the Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem took place last night at Masonic temple at 8 o'clock. The work being done by W. N. Wisner of Pasadena, past watchman of the shepherds, and Mrs. Ormes of Pasadena acting as herald and Mrs. Cutler of Hollywood as chaplain. At that time also forty-three applicants for membership were initiated into the order, making the membership close to sixty. At last night's meeting there were about 100 visitors present.

The officers of the Glendale Shrine include Mrs. Orma V. Naudain, Worthy High Priestess; E. M. Cutting, Watchman of the Shepherds; Mrs. Evelyn G. Peirce, Noble Prophetess; Mrs. Fern Roberts, Worthy Shopperess; Mrs. Olga Bourne, Guide; Mrs. Maude Smith, Worthy Scribe; Mrs. Sarah Carroll, Worthy Treasurer; Mrs. Eva G. Vesper, Chaplain; Mrs. Sarah Leland, Queen; B. F. Bourne, King; Mrs. E. M. Cutting, First Hand Maiden; Mrs. Jennie Phillips, Second Hand Maiden; Mrs. Valencia Watson, Third Hand Maiden; Alvah Leland, First Wise Man; Warren Roberts, Second Wise Man; Thomas Watson, Third Wise Man; Gertrude McMillan, Guardian; Francis Collier, Guard.

After the business session, the members adjourned to the banquet room, where light refreshments were served.

Tell of Examination for Postmastership

Competitors in the U. S. Civil Service examination for the Glendale postmastership will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated upon their education and training, business experience and fitness, according to the posters received at the postoffice yesterday.

Anyone wishing to write their life's history in the necessary applications and have the civil service examiner decide their eligibility for the position and then take chances on a possible appointment, may obtain further information at the postoffice.

C. W. Ingledue Chosen For Board's President

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale Research hospital last night in the offices of R. L. Kent company, 130 South Brand boulevard, C. W. Ingledue was named president and A. L. Baird secretary for the ensuing year.

Radio Experts to Conduct Column in the Glendale Evening News; Questions to Be Answered; Latest Information Given Out

Owing to the widespread interest constantly growing in wireless telephony, The Glendale Evening News will conduct a column on this newest and most absorbing science.

Arrangements are being made for several contributors to provide the very latest on the subject, each and every one well qualified to give readers of this paper the latest, authentic information available.

George Van Sands will act as Radio Editor. His experience in wireless dates back to 1907 when he was employed as radio operator by the "D and C" Navigation Company, operating passenger and freight steamers on the Great Lakes between Detroit and Cleveland.

Mr. Van Sands has kept in touch with radio and boasts a wide and varied knowledge of the subject. He will conduct a Question and Answer column and anyone desiring information should feel free to write him. The answers will be published insofar as possible in order that others may learn.

E. Leroy (Sparks) Olson, radio electrician, who put in two years at the Annapolis, Md., naval radio station, and studied at the Great Lakes Naval Training school, will serve in an advisory capacity on questions about equipment. He is now connected with the Glendale Radio Supply.

The Glendale Evening News also has ordered the New York Herald-Sun radio features.

The first article will be printed Saturday, a short sketch of "Radio Telephony as It Relates to Glendale," by Mr. Van Sands. Any questions you may have, please address communications to the "Radio Editor, Glendale Evening News." No personal calls will be answered, so put your problems in writing. If a detailed reply is expected, please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

WHIR - R - R OF BIKE WHEELS SEEMS TO LURE THIS MAN

Prisoner Is Accused of Having Stolen at Least 40 Bicycles;
Seven Are Recovered

Seven bicycles stolen from Glendale owners during the past few months were recovered yesterday by Detective Sergeants L. C. Stein and G. J. Kincaid and are now at the city hall awaiting identification.

Their recovery was made possible by a confession, declared to have been made in the county jail by Claude S. Roberts, whose home during the past few years has alternated between penitentiaries and insane asylums, the police say. He was arrested in Pasadena, where he had taken about forty wheels, after being trailed all over the city following an attempt, which was frustrated, to steal a bike, it is charged.

Roberts is tattooed up like an "old salt" and asserts that he received a blow on the head while in the navy. During the Spanish-American War, according to report, he was a member of the crew of the U. S. S. Oregon. As a result of his thieving proclivities, however, he has forfeited his government pensions and prize money for marksmanship and good behavior, it is said.

Bikes Aways on Hobby
The business of stealing bicycles was a hobby with Roberts, the police say. At one time he worked with a partner who would steal a wheel and inform him to whom he had sold it. Roberts would then turn up with a faked bill of sale and claim the bicycle. In this way, they were able to sell the same stolen wheel many times, the police assert. The present address of his partner is unknown. It is thought by the officers that he is serving time.

The method followed by Roberts previous to his last arrest was to spot a wheel, and ride it off when no one was watching. He disposed of many of the bicycles to Japanese truck farmers for a few dollars, the police claim. One Pierce racing bicycle, which cost about $80, was sold by him for $2.50. According to Sergeant Kincaid, the prices he secured for the wheels ranged from about $3 to $6.

The wheels were picked up yesterday by the department's Ford at different places all the way between the Montebello section house and Tropico. The recent owners were somewhat reluctant to part with their new conveyances, it is stated.

Charges against Roberts are being preferred by the Pasadena police department.

Visitors From Oregon Like Glendale Section

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Slusser, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marshall of 525 South Central avenue, returned Tuesday to their home in Portland, Ore., after a ten days' vacation in California. During that time the Marshalls took them motoring over some 700 miles, visiting San Diego, Riverside, Long Beach, Venice, Santa Monica and other points of interest. After visiting all directions they declared that Glendale and the district between here and Pasadena was the most charming of all.

ENTERTAINS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Clyde Thedaker of 238 El Bonita avenue entertained at luncheon yesterday, her guests including Mrs. George Adams, Mrs. A. W. Paine of Pasadena and Mrs. E. T. Van Etten.

VISIT CATALINA ISLAND

Dave Matchenson and Earl Ernest of 118 North Orange street combined a business and pleasure trip to Catalina Island yesterday.

ANNUAL REPORTS ON WORK GIVEN BY PRESBYTERIANS

Facts and Figures Given Out at Meeting; Election of Officers Is Held

A spirit of loyalty and cooperation marked the annual business meeting last night in the Glendale Presbyterian church.

Much enthusiasm was shown following the reports of various church activities and each one was accepted unanimously.

Miss Louise M. Guenther of 708 North Maryland avenue, congregational treasurer, reported that all bills have been paid up to date, that the church paid over $6000 for missionary work and raised a total of $23,000 during the past year exclusive of the building fund.

The Sunday school reported an enrollment of 849 which is raised to 975 with the addition of the figures from the Cradle roll and home department.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds was elected presiding officer and R. P. Istitt of 509 North Maryland avenue clerk of the meeting.

Officers Elected
The following officers were elected last night for the coming fiscal year:

Trustees—T. W. Preston, 330 North Jackson street; J. M. Fife, 517 North Jackson street; W. S. Perrin, 304 North Orange street; C. E. Boss, 119 South Central avenue; J. B. McClellan, 126 North Central avenue; and A. L. Baird, 637 North Orange street.

Deacons—H. L. Lawrence, Glenn B. Porter, N. H. Stanley, George F. Daugherty, H. C. Rettberg and W. C. Harris, all re-elected. W. H. Barnes, L. A. Hart, Howard M. Lennox and Dr. A. Dwight Smith, newly elected.

Elders—H. H. Schumaker, W. G. Boyd, R. P. Istitt, and H. L. Finlay, all re-elected, and D. L. Foster, W. A. Horn, G. E. Snyder and Rex. C. Kelley, newly elected.

At the close of the meeting short talks were given by the assistant pastor, Rev. Louis Tinning, and also by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds.

The spirit of these talks and the expressions of the officers and members present showed clearly that the Presbyterians are facing a year of wonderful opportunity and privilege.

PERFECT CARD TURNED IN

In addition to the large number of high school and grammar school pupils who participated in the music memory contest, final try-outs for which were held Saturday morning at the T. D. & L. theatre, the examination of the cards submitted show that there were also three contestants at large. Of this number one submitted a perfect card, Mrs. E. T. Van Etten of 231 El Bonita avenue, according to Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of judges.

Today's World News In Brief

(By International News Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Well nigh perfect harmony exists between President Harding and congress, Republican Floor Leader Mondell solemnly assured the house today in making a sweeping denial of published statements of party discord.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Wearing the ring which she asserted had been given her by Ellis G. Kincaid as a symbol of their common law marriage, Miss Olivia M. P. Stone, charged with the murder of Kincaid, took the witness stand in her own defense today.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Blocked by legal objections from the state in presentation of certain evidence, the defense in the third manslaughter trial of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle re-formed its lines today and renewed its attack on the case built up by the prosecution.

COPENHAGEN, March 20.—The newspaper Berlingske Tagend today printed the following dispatch from Moscow: "Nicolai Lenin is unable to sign his name to soviet government decrees on account of his physical condition. His resignation as president of the people's commissaries is expected momentarily."

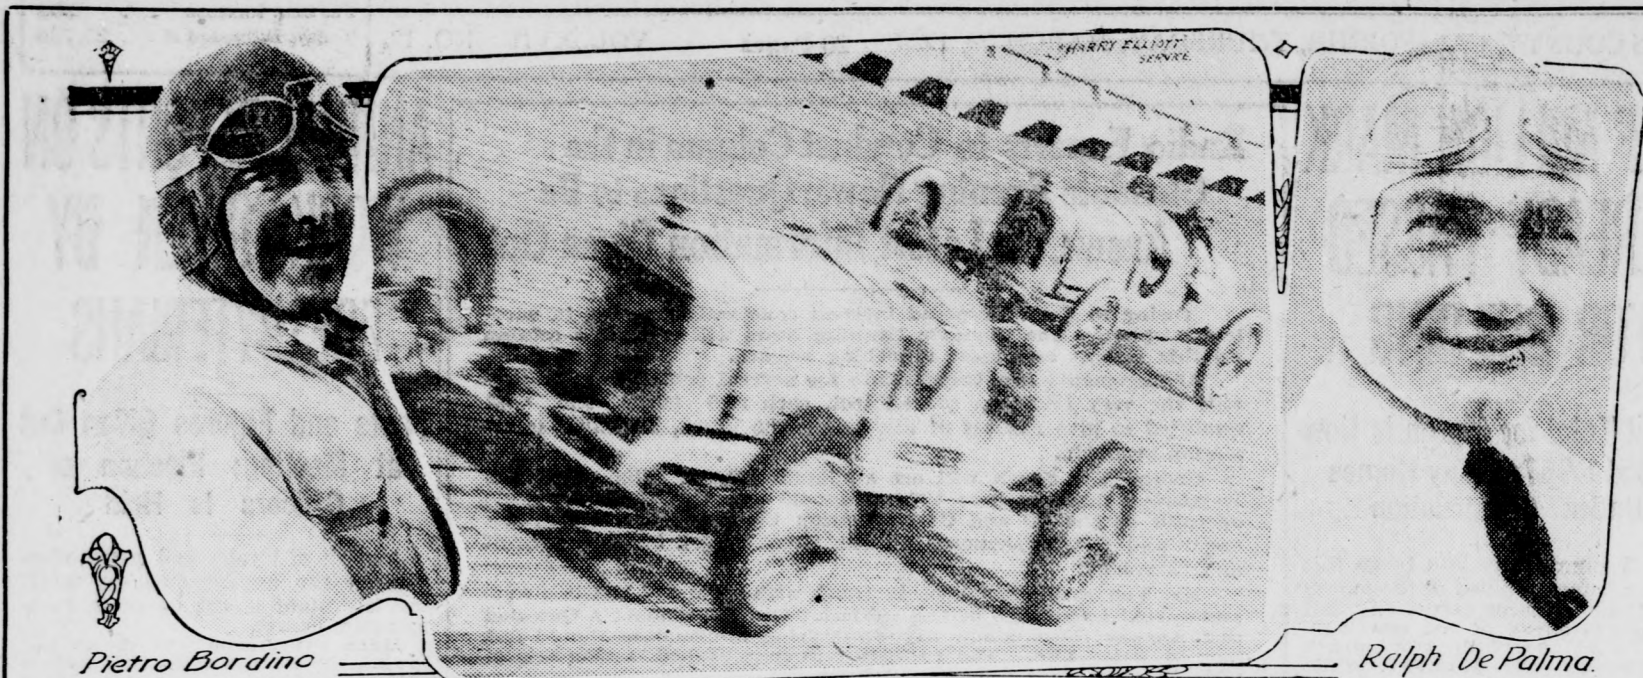

LONDON, March 30.—Definite proposals for ending the strife between the hostile Irish factions in Ulster were submitted to the Irish peace parley this afternoon by the British. Michael Collins, of the Irish provincial government, immediately withdrew from the conference to study the proposals and confer with his colleagues.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A "dark horse" bonus scheme, to supplant the one adopted by the house, was discussed by Senator Smoot, republican, of Utah, today with President Harding. The proposal is simple, it is understood, consisting almost entirely of insurance. Each veteran would be granted free government insurance for $2500 for a period of twenty years.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The expected fight on the president's ship subsidy plan was launched in the senate today when Senator Dial, democrat, of South Carolina, opened fire on the shipping board. "I am opposed to any more of the people's money being thrown away upon such a set of incompetent men as the board is," said Dial. "I do not think any more money should be taken out of the people's pockets to be wasted by the board on its shipping schemes," he said.

MONARCHS OF SPEEDWAY WILL MEET IN GREAT AUTO RACES SUNDAY

Close brushes like this one between Ralph De Palma, now driving Eddie Miller's Duesenberg, and Roscoe Sarles, will be furnished the race fans a-plenty at Beverly Hills, April 2, when the local speed proprietors are offering the greatest speed matinee ever witnessed. The two pictured here are masters of the track art, who are among the entrants in the five sprint races to be held.

Los Angeles is a speed-mad town. The talk on the street, in the clubs, in the hotel lobbies and on the golf courses, has turned to speed and the special sprint race events to be staged at the Los Angeles Speedway next Sunday afternoon.

What will Pietro Bordino, the great Italian speed hero, do in competition with the American speed kings when he meets those thrillers of the racing sport in the short dashes? Will he be able to run through twenty-five miles on the board course at Beverly without burning up at least one tire? Will he be able to stand the pace of the close formations indulged in by the racers when they drive wide open for the full distance? These and many other such questions are being asked by the followers of the speed sport who will journey out to Beverly Sunday to get a last look at Bordino and the rest of the monarchs of the speedway before the curtain rings down on the spring racing season here and the drivers depart for the north to prepare for the Cotati Speedway event at Santa Rosa and the Fresno race to be held April 29.

The meet Sunday will see the last appearance of the Italian driver in southern California. He is to return to his home in Torino after the Cotati event and it is doubtful if he will be back again as he will take over the 122 inch Fiat for the Italian Grand Prix and other European classics and will be kept busy on the other side of the Atlantic for some time.

The five dashes Sunday will offer the most spectacular speed program ever witnessed in southern California. The race meet is being staged at the request of the speed fans and the drivers are determined to give them an abundance of thrills before they break camp and depart for the north. The drivers themselves realize the dangers of these short races where they battle, hub to hub, at 115 miles an hour and strain every working part of their motors in the final effort to reach the finish line.

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The fact that "Oxy" Hendrixon, the national intercollegiate quarter-mile of the University of California, only placed third in the dual games against the University of Southern California has caused considerable speculation as to the cause. While there are some who think that Hendrixon may be retrograding, the general opinion is that he was simply handicapped by one of his off days.

Hartrant, of the University of California, put the shot 50 feet 3/4 inches. Those who are familiar with performances at various meets declare that this is the best put that has been made in this country in the last five years.

Two promising javelin throwers loomed in sight. These were Hanmer of Stanford, who sent the missile 136 feet 3 1/4 inches in the dual games against the Olympic club, and the throw made by Sorenty of the University of California of 180 feet 7 inches. The Pacific coast record is 195 feet 5 inches. This is two feet behind the American record.

After being defeated on the track and field by the University of California for the last two years, Stanford University has high hopes this year of turning the tables. Critics agree that the Cardinals have the strongest combination of cinder path athletes in several years and there seems to be some foundation for the hopes of the student body. It is practically a certainty that Stanford will send a team to compete in the intercollegiate in the East.

Tennis enthusiasts have focused their attention on Alex Wilson, a freshman at the University of California. Wilson's sudden rise to fame was occasioned by his recent defeat of Willis Davis, tenth ranking tennis player of the United States.

Mrs. L. Hughes, rated as one of the country's leading lady polo players, refereed the recent game between the Eleventh Cavalry team and the Denver team in the finals for the Hotel del Coronado Cup at the Coronado Country club. As far as known, this is the first time that a woman has officiated in this capacity in an important tournament.

India ink was invented by the Chinese about 1200 B.C. and was made by mixing a very fine soot with a gelatine prepared from asses' skins.

The World Over By FRANKLIN B. MORSE PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Whatever may be behind the sale of Peter J. Kilduff to the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast baseball league and whatever New York and Brooklyn fans may have thought of his ability as a player, there can be no question that the said Kilduff has made a great impression with the baseball critics of the Pacific coast, who have been writing very flattering remarks on his work in the training camp.

Not to be outdone in politeness, the former Brooklyn Dodger's player has come back with some equally complimentary stuff on the ability of a number of coast league stars and particularly about Jimmy O'Connell, "the $75,000 beauty" recently purchased by Manager McGraw, and Willie Kamm, the San Francisco club's third baseman.

O'Connell has impressed Kilduff as a great hitter, and he states he has never seen a player with better form at bat than the boy who jumped into national fame through his sale of seventy-five thousand iron men. Kilduff believes that O'Connell will add at least twenty-five points and probably fifty—he batted .337 last season—to his performance of last year. "There is no telling how good this boy will become," said Kilduff. "He is real major league material now but this year's work in the Coast League will be of great value to him. He flies round the sacks after he rounds first base, but he does not utilize his great speed from the plate to the first sack. He will also show greater improvement when he can make trouble for the infielders on chances that they now find easy to get to first base ahead of him."

Regarding Kamm, Kilduff does not think Willie covers enough ground to his right, but his work over to left has been all that could be desired round third in training. Many shrewd judges of ball players have doubted Kamm's hitting ability. "Kamm's position at the plate is against him becoming a great hitter," says Kilduff. "He has done some tall hitting in training, but I doubt if he can do the same thing in a game against good pitching. Kamm and O'Connell have so much ability, however, that their few shortcomings are not faults, but more oversights than anything else.

With practice and a little more attention to their shortcomings, I have no doubt they will both make a name for themselves when they go up to the majors."

Notwithstanding his "shortcomings" which can easily be adjusted, Kilduff believes Kamm as an artist at third base. "From my knowledge of major league stars I know that Frankie Frisch, Heine Groh and other crack third sackers have nothing on Kamm. To my mind Jimmy O'Connell and Billie Kamm will pass with honors in the majors. They are both youngsters and both have a great future before them in the majors."

THREE TEAMS TIED FOR FIRST PLACE IN ELK LEAGUE

Only Two Weeks Left in Which to Determine Winner in Bowling Contest

Bullards	7	17	.291

With but two weeks more of play in Class B division of the Glendale Elks' scratch bowling league, first honors are being hotly contested for by three clubs—the Lawrence, Wattles and Vogels.

The Bullard-West match proved to be the most exciting part of the evening's program, the first two games being undecided until the last man had rolled on each team.

In their first game the Wests barely nosed out the fighting Bullards by the narrow margin of three pins. The score was 275 to 272. The second contest also went to the Wests, this time by a margin of 20 points, the final tally being 317 to 297.

Some Surprises Result

The Salmacia aggregation, which is composed of Hart, Newkirk and Captain Salmacia, rolled the highest individual game of the evening with a grand total of 576 pins. Incidentally, the "Fonographs" also came in for booby honors of their match, scoring but 332 pins in the second game against the Lawrence.

The Sport Crucible By Davis J. Walsh International News Service Sports Editor

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Ask any well informed baseball man what he thinks of the St. Louis Cardinals and he will hook an index finger in your button hole and proceed to talk you silly.

"Pitchers, pitchers, pitchers," he will chant. "The Cardinals have pitchers."

He will not think it necessary to mention anything else. The fact that Branch Rickey is down here with a few young men who can pitch a winning ball game from time to time would seem to be enough.

For it is no Masonic secret that the Cardinals are an outfit of the most sincere hitters ever known to major league baseball, that, aside from the matter of pitching, they are defensively irreproachable and that speed on the bases is their daily dish. Given a bit more consistency in pitching last season and the Cardinals, not the Giants, might have been the team to come up from the surreptitious rear to nip the pirates at the wire.

Imagine your distinct chagrin and annoyance upon being asked to go out and pitch a winning game behind such support as the following:

Rogers Hornsby, who led the league with a batting average of .397; Mueller, who hit .352, his first year in the league; Austin McHenry, .350; Clemons, .320; Schultz, .309;

Milton Stock, .306; Doc Lavan, .259, and Cliff Heathcote, .243. It must have been a terrible ordeal for any Cardinal pitcher.

Yet with the winning of ball games cut to their measure, so to speak, the pitchers couldn't win consistently.

Now, however, all is sweet. At least, that is Branch Rickey's story. Mr. Rickey is nothing if not plausible. He points first to Bill Doak, the human salivary gland, aged, but still good; Jess Haynes, with a fast ball and excellent control; Bill Perrier, just about getting ready to show something definite; Sherdell, the left-hander; North and Jeff Pfeffer, who seems to have attained commendable, physical condition down here and is really trying. These are Mr. Rickey's prize exhibits.

But it is upon some of the younger men that he pins his most optimistic hopes. There is, for instance, Clyde Barfoot, up from the Texas league, with plenty of control on a good curve and slow ball. Then there is Arthur Reinhart, a left-hander from Los Angeles, who would be right good if he acquires control; Sid Benton, former University of Arkansas right-hander; Bill Bailey, Revere and Roy Walker. Out of the lot, Rickey expects to cull enough good pitching to run with the leaders from first to last.

Edwards of Los Angeles, recently of Tacoma, Wash.

The members of the Magnolia Street Parent-Teacher association are planning to give a pie and hot coffee social Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the school. This will be in charge of Mrs. P. A. Vaughan.

Mrs. Mary M. Griggs of 332 West California street is pleased to have as her guest her brother, J. V. Mc-Elwee, who arrived last night from Washington, D. C., and will make his home in Glendale.

Miss Katherine Jensen of Washington, D. C., is spending this week with the nurses' training school at the Glendale Sanitarium. She is giving the nurses some valuable instruction along their lines of work.

Mrs. I. S. Gorham and son George, who have been guests for the past ten days of Mrs. R. D. Jones of 322 East Dryden street, returned to their home in Los Angeles Wednesday.
Mrs. Gorham and Mrs. Jones are sisters.

Mrs. Hattie E. Gaylord of 1218 Stanley avenue expects to leave tomorrow for Long Beach, where she will spend several days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. L.
Howes. Mr. and Mrs. Howes are former residents of this city.

On Monday night Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Jr., of 463 West Vine street had as her guests at a farewell dinner party her father, Asa Dixon, Jr., and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr.

nue. Lieutenant Commander Cam-erer has been detached from his shore duty at the United States Naval Hospital at San Diego, where he has been on duty for the past three years, and is now medical officer on the United States Hospital ship "Mercy" in San Pedro harbor.

Burglars! Better Read These Target Scores!

The first target practice under Col.
J. D. Fraser, new chief of police, was held yesterday afternoon at the department's rifle range. The highest individual score of five shots was made by A. Kerns, formerly a marine. The highest total score, however, was made by I. F. LaRock, a newcomer in the force. Mayor Spencer Robinson made 40 points out of a possible 50; City Manager W. H.
Reeves, 39. On account of being without his "pet" gun and being obliged to borrow one for the occasion, a low score was made by Col.
Fraser. He promises to do "some shooting" when he gets his own weapon.

MOTOR TRIP TO ELSINORE

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Eckles of 230
North Orange street, accompanied by Mrs. Eckles' mother, Mrs. Laura Dorsey, motored to Elsinore for the last week-end. They called at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J.
Corwin Sunday, before leaving for home. Mr. and Mrs. Corwin plan to spend a few days in Glendale the latter part of this week where they will be guests of relatives and friends on North Orange street.

ENTERTAIN FOR FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Tassmere entertained informally at cards last Saturday night. A delicious hot supper was served at midnight. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. B. A.
Young, Mrs. Osborne and Ernest Hicks, who are visitors from Morrison, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. B. F.
Shipman and Mr. and Mrs. Tassmere.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ashton of 322 El Bonita avenue are the parents of twins, a baby boy and a baby girl, born Tuesday, March 28, 1922, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

A Chicago will expert failed to make his own will before he died.

C. OF C. TO BOOST LA BREQUE'S SHOW, IS ANNOUNCED

Industrial and Auto Display to Be Advertised When on Junketing Trip

The Chamber of Commerce on its junketing trip throughout the San Fernando valley, April 19, will advertise the Greater Glendale Merchants and Industrial Exposition which will be staged by the La-Breque enterprises now playing in the north, according to an announcement this morning by Secretary James M. Rhoades, who conferred yesterday with Robert Cavenagh, representing H. Elmo LaBreque, who was the head of the company staging last year's exposition and automobile show here.

Mr. Cavenagh learned that the Nash, Studebaker, Buick and other motorcar dealers will wait for the LaBreque exposition, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The Willard Battery station and the Monarch Auto Supply company as well as other accessory establishments will be in the exposition held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

The date for the show will be settled by the Chamber and Merchants' association and it is expected to follow the Oakland exposition which is scheduled for the latter part of May.

Local Realty Board Discusses Plans to Carry on Good Work

The Glendale Realty Board held its regular bi-monthly business meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night with an attendance of more than thirty-five local real estate dealers.

Matters of business were disposed of relating to state and national affairs, among them being the appointment of a committee to secure associate memberships for the California Real Estate association, the committee being Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman; Edith May Osborne and Mrs.
M. L. Tight.

It is felt by the real estate brokers throughout the state that the work being carried on by the state association is of direct benefit, not only to its real estate dealers, but to bankers and other financial institutions—to contractors and builders, and to all interested in the civic betterment and welfare of our cities and state, and that therefore a number of associate memberships to assist in carrying on their work would be very desirable.

Listing System
The Multiple Listing question was the paramount one of the evening, the board being particularly fortunate in having as its guest one who has had considerable experience in the operation of such a system, and who has been president of a board which is credited with having originated that plan. W. H. Moor, ex-president of the Toledo, Ohio, Real Estate board, gave a talk on the operation of this system and the benefits to be derived from it. A free and full discussion of the system was entered into by practically every member present. The feeling seemed to be quite general that it would be a good plan to adopt here in Glendale. The matter was referred to the Multiple Listing committee for further action.

Negligee Dominates London's New Styles

LONDON—Negligee carried to the highest degree of art is the dominant characteristic of the spring fashion.
The waist line has slipped down to the middle of the hips and is marked only by a loose girdle, generally of brightly-colored beads, which contrast agreeably with the simple hues of the frocks themselves.
In all dresses, whether for morning, afternoon or evening wear, there is an underrobe over which flowing draperies are arranged.
Sleeves are full and fantastic.
They droop from the arm, with little vignettes cut out from the shoulder, and tighten to the cuff round the wrist.
Skirts are gradually lengthening and while décolletage remains low the back it is gradually rising in front.

Purple Parrot Makes Jokes Against Co-eds

CHICAGO—The "windy" number of Northwestern University's student magazine, the Purple Parrot, has made its much-awaited appearance.
It was as advertised. For instance,
here is one of the jokes:
Fran—Have you a date for Saturday night?
Jan—No, but I am wearing a short skirt today.
Likewise this one:
"24—See the couple standing over there by the pillar?
25—Yes, they're doing the elevator dance.
24—How's that?
25—There are no steps.
Also:
Discovered at last: The coeds are wearing goloshes because the fellows are so mushy.

AMERICAN WOMAN KILLED

SHANGHAI, March 30.—An American woman, Mrs. W. J. Snyder, was killed when two Koreans ran amuck and fired on a crowd of tourists arriving on the American shipping board liner Pine Tree state following an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Baron Tanaka.

Eight persons fell before their bullets. One of these was Mrs. W.
J. Snyder, she dying soon after.
She was on a world tour, being a member of a party of an international touring agency.

Disarmament in Air Of Germany Is Ended

LONDON—The work of disarming Germany in the air is ended. All but twenty of the British, French, Italian, Belgian and Japanese officers who have worked under General Masterman on the Inter-Allied Commission of Aeronautical Control have left Germany, and on May 5 the Commission will have ceased to exist.
Since January, 1920, the Commission has destroyed 14,800 airplanes.
Of 29,500 motors dealt with some have been handed over to England and her allies, but most have been destroyed. Six airships have been handed over to the Allied countries.
The work of the Commission has been done under great difficulties;
for never before has the work of disarming a nation been undertaken.
When General Masterman demanded a list of places where sheds, works and airplanes were to be found the authorities declared that the papers had been lost during the revolution, and only little by little was the necessary information obtained.

'Seashore' Tests May Prove Boon to Youth

LIMA, O.—Never again will mother and dad compel freckle-faced, baseballically-incited Willie to sit down and "practice" on his hated violin or piano; no more will golden-haired Janet be summoned from her dolls and forced, with tear-stained cheeks, to spend the ordained hour with her "despised" lessons.
That is, if Lima parents generally adopt the newly-introduced "seashore tests" now being held in local high schools to determine those pupils who are musically inclined. Boys and girls are being graded upon their individual "response" to time, tone and harmony by the playing of specially prepared phonograph records.
Superintendent J. E. Collins says the tests may be extended to the elementary grades, also.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked, or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

TWINS JOINED IN LIFE, ONE WEDDED, DIE TOGETHER

No Operation Is Attempted to Prevent Death; Son of One Weeps at Bedside

CHICAGO, March 30.—Josefa and Rosa Blazek, the "Siamese twins," died early today. They died as they were born and as they lived—together. No operation was attempted to prevent their death. Death came to one within a few minutes after the other had passed away. Dr. Benjamin Breakstone, chief surgeon of the hospital, said that Josefa's death occurred at 2:25 a. m. and Rosa died at 2:32 a. m. At 2 o'clock Dr. Benjamin Breakstone announced that he could no longer feel the pulse of either and that death was a matter of moments. He also declared that an operation which had been contemplated to save the life of one should the other die would be useless as each twin was beyond saving. Throughout yesterday and last night Dr. Breakstone and other physicians had pleaded with Frank Blazek, brother of the twins, and with Franz Blazek, 12-year-old son of Rosa, to permit the operation.

Refuses Right to Operate
Under the state law of Illinois an operation may not be performed without the consent of relatives. Both the brother and the son refused to agree to the operation. Dr. Breakstone believes that if the operation had been permitted, he might have saved the life of Rosa. Rosa, who was conscious most of the time, also opposed the operation, and pleaded with the physicians to allow her to die.

"If Josefa dies there is nothing for me to live for," Rosa said. Josefa was kept alive for many hours by artificial respiration. Rosa gradually became weaker and physicians finally despaired of saving the life of either.

The twins became ill about two weeks ago, each suffering from jaundice. They had about recovered when relapse occurred, and two days ago their lives virtually were despaired of.

Appear in Vaudeville
Born in Czechoslovakia 43 years ago, the twins had travelled in Europe for many years. Two years ago they came to the United States. They had been appearing in vaudeville for several weeks prior to their illness.

The two were joined together at the hips by a structure of bone and tissue. Many noted surgeons had examined them with the view to determining the possibility of separating them by a surgical operation. The verdict always had been that such an operation was likely to cause the death of one or both of them.

Although joined together, physicians said that each had a separate, individual body with only two or three organs in common. Throughout their illness it was noticed that they manifested different physical reactions, such as varied temperature, respiration and pulse beats.

By their work in vaudeville and museums, the twins had accumulated a fortune of considerable amount. It is expected that the son of Rosa and the brother of the two will inherit this, although the twins left no will, so far as has been learned.

Little is known in this country concerning the marriage of Rosa or the husband, who is understood to have died. The son is a normal boy, physicians declare. He was at the bedside when death came and wept silently.

Will Rogers Appears In 'A Poor Relation'
Pathos and humor, plot and counterplot, virtue and villainy, are all excellently compounded in the new Goldwyn picture, "A Poor Relation," starring Will Rogers, which is being shown at the Glendale Theatre.

The story relates the trials of a philosophic inventor, Noah Vale, who cares more about the welfare of two orphans he has adopted than about the success of his invention. As is often the case with impractical men, his invention is appropriated by another, but the sparkling wit that unconsciously drops from his lips is gathered into book form by a young friend and brings Noah Vale fame and money when all his plans seem to have failed. Besides, he is the kindhearted philosopher.

Will Rogers gives an inimitable performance. He is an actor who never disappoints; and in "A Poor Relation," he is cast in a role and in a picture that are as real as life.

The news reel, Aesop's fables and comedy complete the pleasing bill.

Plan $190,000 Worth Of Construction Work
Plans for over $190,000 worth of construction work in Glendale have been completed during the past five months by the architectural firm of Charlton & Brainard, which has announced its removal in the near future from its present location at 113 East Broadway to larger quarters on the second floor of the Central building.

"When one firm can turn out that much work," said H. D. Charlton, "it indicates what Glendale is doing in the building line."

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

"We'll Tell the World!"
Appreciate News in Brief
Bigger Ideas Yet to Come
Good Navy, Not Cheap One

By Gil A. Cowan

SELDOM do events in Glendale merit nation-wide comment. Yet there was a story published last evening which well could be heralded to the world.

In the music week memory contest 140 school students here scored perfect! So many more than the judges expected that now a decided effort is being made to secure prizes for those who were not provided for.

Considering the list of difficult classical selections from which twelve were played, there is no question but what the musical education of the children here is not being neglected.

Indeed, their precocity in matters musical is a pleasing revelation which amply repays those donating to the prize fund.

"The newspapers of tomorrow will be smaller than those of the present." Such is the opinion of Herbert L. Bridgman, business manager of the Brooklyn Standard Union, who recently addressed the Press Congress of the World.

"It is my belief," he added, "that if they were smaller they would be better."

Brevity in telegraphic news, especially of the sensational nature, was urged by the speaker as an economic necessity and in that the Glendale Evening News agrees.

More people appreciate "Today's World News in Brief" than the columns other papers devote to scandal, rumormongers, politicians' propaganda and other news of little or no relative value to the average person's life and livelihood in Glendale.

Students of Glendale Union high school yesterday were accorded a privilege of untold value in their later lives.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company taught a lesson in "The Big Idea" which could not be learned from books.

In the first place, the intricacies of telephone service was spread before the pupils in an interesting, human demonstration by the use of sectional switchboards representing the manual and automatic exchanges.

This was followed by the film tracing the calls and picturing the ingenuity with which science makes possible the transmission of spoken messages.

And then to think that this is but the cradle for wireless telephony, one wonders what the ultimate limit of our children's children's comprehension will be!

Among the very first to make use of the radiophone in the commercial world was the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company in connecting Catalina island, off the Southern California coast, with the mainland.

The next time you take a trip to that magic isle, take a tip and call a friend here on the phone line, spans space. Not that it is a novelty, but you will then be able to appreciate the possibilities for further research work.

At the present time every manufacturer of radio equipment in the United States has orders crowding the capacity of their factories for the delivery of sets to the United States Army and Navy.

One Kansas City firm advertises it has sold 80,000 receiving sets in two months. However, it was not made plain if all of these had been delivered or not.

"A good navy—not a cheap one." Such is the policy outlined by Senator Page of Vermont, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, in planning to overturn the action of the house in its plan to scrap the "pre-conference" sea forces of Uncle Sam.

While the house would only have 65,000 men, the senate insist on 80,000 personnel. The 15,000 may come in mighty handy some of these days and there is no need of going to extremes to satisfy one group.

No one wants a large navy. And only a few will earnestly advocate disarmament of the United States to a disadvantage among other world powers.

Business Block Is Being Remodeled
A local syndicate is investing approximately $10,000 in the remodeling of the Elks' old clubrooms and L. O. O. F. hall at 118 East Broadway. Plans were drawn by Charlton & Brainard, local architects, and the building operations are being carried out by day work under their supervision and will transform the old halls into modern office suites, with reception rooms, strictly modern in arrangement and detail. This firm will occupy one office suite, and will use two for display rooms for a building materials exhibit, which they plan to put in as soon as the building is completed. This will be similar to the metropolitan exhibit in Los Angeles, and should be of great interest to the home buyer and builder.

Kansas People Called to Picnic Saturday
The 60,000 or more Kansans in southern California have been included in the call for a mighty rally to be held Saturday, April 1, 1922, at Sycamore Grove park in Los Angeles, under the auspices of the Pasadena association, of which H. A. Loy is president. There will be community singing led by H. J. Brubaker and other features of entertainment.

NAMED U. S. MARSHAL
WASHINGTON, March 30.—The senate has confirmed the nomination of Albert L. Sitton to be United States marshal for the southern district of California.

AUTHOR AND PAINTER FIGHT FIST DUEL ON HIGH CLIFF

Harry Leon Wilson Challenges Theodore M. Criley to Bout; Former Meets Defeat

CARMEL, Calif., March 30.—Agog with gossip for a week, this little colony of authors and artists was startled into a fresh hubbub with publication today of details of a hand-to-hand duel fought by Harry Leon Wilson, famous author, and Theodore M. Criley, wealthy landscape painter, as the outcome of a feud starting with the production of a community play six months ago.

On a high cliff overlooking the sea in the early morning a few days ago, according to the reports current here, Wilson, a man of 55 and weighing about 185 pounds, met Criley, aged about 45 and weighing about 155, in primitive conflict. Seconds attended the men. It is said, and stripped to the waist they battled until Criley had scored four knockdowns.

Wilson fought, according to the reports, until completely exhausted. The men wore thin riding gloves on their hands. Both were badly battered. It is reported Wilson's first blow nearly closed the left eye of the landscape artist.

Writer Gets Jealous
The feud between the two men was well known here in the local colony. Last fall the Open Air theatre, a community affair, presented "Pomander Walk," a romantic play.

Mrs. Wilson was chosen for the role of heroine of the play and Criley played opposite her as hero.

Wilson is said to have become jealous and this later fanned itself into bitter enmity.

According to all reports here, the early morning battle between the two men was classic from the standpoint of physical battling.

The affair was handled in approved dueling fashion. The seconds handled all details between the two men and paced off the sod-covered ring. There were "rounds" only when a knockdown was scored.

Wilson recently came back from a trip to Hawaii. According to reports here he was in training during his stay at Honolulu and was in fine physical trim for the encounter.

Wilson, it is understood, first sent a verbal challenge to Criley. Criley replied in conciliatory spirit, but agreeing to meet Wilson alone or with witnesses, in any manner he wished.

Wilson lost no time replying, stating that as soon as he could enlist the services of his seconds they would arrange the meeting.

Scene Is Romantic
The scene of the encounter is as romantic as the affair in which the men were engaged. It is a grass-covered glade on a high point known as Yankee Point and so isolated that the men were safe from all interference.

Wilson is widely known for his writings both in magazines and of books. Many of his characters are of the outdoor type.

"Rugles of Red Gap" and his "Ma Pettinell" stories brought him fame. Both men have been in retirement since the struggle. Despite the bitter physical encounter, the feud is not settled. According to reports, Wilson's last words to Criley after the battle were, "You win this time, but I've just begun."

Criley is reported to consider the whole thing "schoolboy" stuff.

Lighted Show Window Brings New Business
Do Glendale people go to bed with the chickens?

K. T. Kuranaga, proprietor of the Japan Art & Tea Store at 135 South Brand boulevard, says that they do not.

"Some merchants here have nerve enough to pay a big rent," says Mr. Kuranaga, "but they think it is economy to turn down the window lights at night. That is penny wise and pound foolish. Window shopping makes business the next day. Well-lighted windows make for the progress of the town."

He says he is glad to notice that many business men have well-lighted windows at night, also attractive electric signs.

"Let there be light—lots of it—in Glendale," he concluded.

MISSING MAN FOUND DEAD
CLOVERDALE, March 30.—The body of Pierre Lasseret, pioneer resident of this section, was found by searching parties in the hills three miles from here. Death was due to heart failure. He had been missing several days.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN
Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Menthosulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Menthosulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

GEORGE T. SMITH

When George T. Smith, Overland and Willys-Knight distributor for this vicinity, first came to Glendale a little less than a year ago he had no idea he would be directing the big enterprise he has here today. After a month's visit he decided to locate in Glendale because of its rapid growth and the appearance of the city as compared to Pomona and other towns.

Returning to Piqua, Ohio, he closed out his interests in a motor coach building manufactory, and on November 1 was back here to re-establish the Overland and Willys-Knight business in Glendale, Eagle Rock, Burbank, Tujunga, La Crescenta, Sunland and other communities. Mr. Smith had enjoyed eleven years' success in the manufactory business, the last three of which were devoted to work allied with the automobile industry.

Every ounce of energy was then put into the organizing the sales and service of his agency at 228 South Brand boulevard and in the five months' time Mr. Smith has developed the business to a point where three salesmen, six shop men and a secretary are now employed.

And since the new prices have become effective Mr. Smith is more than pleased with the way the Overland and Willys-Knight cars have been accepted. The one factor helping more than anything else, in the sale of these popular machines, has been good clean service at the lowest possible price. This keeps a satisfied patronage.

A big investment in parts for his particular line is carried by Mr. Smith and he hopes that owners, as well as others who are interested in the purchase of cars, will come in and get acquainted.

"MORAN of the LADY LETTY"

Last Chance to see This Thrilling Romance
COME EARLY

Moran of Lady Letty Last Times T. D. & L., Features Valentino

This afternoon and evening's performance of Rudolph Valentino with Dorothy Dalton in George Melford's production, "Moran of the Lady Letty," concludes its successful run at the T. D. & L. theatre here. It has won the favor of all who have seen it, a tribute to the director, Mr. Melford, who is well known for his long residence in Glendale.

It is a thrilling, pleasing romance, this "Moran of the Lady Letty," and Valentino proves his fitness as the hero of a seafaring tale such as is seldom seen. Dorothy Dalton also shows her ability to fill a "man-sized job" on the ocean.

Manager Ralph Allan says that this film, like many other big attractions playing at the T. D. & L., is real entertainment, as hundreds of Glendale people will attest. However, for those who have not yet seen it, tonight is the last opportunity. The other numbers on the program are equally interesting, thus giving a well-balanced bill.

Music Week Declared To Be Big Success

The Los Angeles County Music Federation Week, which closed Saturday night, has been declared by officers of the federation to have been one of the most enthusiastic, intensive boosts for music ever held in this county.

Mrs. Mattison B. ones, president of the Glendale Music club and who is also vice-president of the state federation and chairman of the extension department, had charge of this event and is much gratified with the enthusiasm shown and programs given by the clubs, schools and churches.

The music week also resulted in five new organizations being added to the federation: The Ontario Methodist Church Choir, American Guild of Organists, Southern California chapter; Orange County Music Teachers' association; The San Francisco Music Teachers' association, and the Lyric Club of Long Beach.

Card Game Holdup Under Police Inquiry

CHICAGO, March 30.—An investigation into the nature of the card game in the apartment of Mrs. Julian Magden, where twelve guests were robbed of between $8,000 and $10,000 in cash and jewelry last night was launched by the police today.

The admission of Mrs. Magden that she "has played at twenty or more homes where the limit was $1 and sometimes $2 in small poker games, and where manicurists, widows and divorcees were the most frequent women players, may cause a general investigation into the "apartment night life" on the north side.

A telephone call which Mrs. Magden believed was from one of those "invited" to her home last night, served as a cue to the robbers. They made their appearance shortly after 10 o'clock and fleeced the guests of their valuables after lining them up against a wall.

The police are particularly anxious to know just how it was that the robbers who made the raid could have picked this one flat out of thousands on the north side. They also are attempting to uncover the nature of the game and whether or not there was any "rake off."

Bag of Pennies Aids Buying Phonograph

That every penny counts in the musical education of the school pupils was shown by the way the children of the Park Avenue school, in the Parkdale addition just across the Southern Pacific tracks, assisted in the purchase of a Victrola for that school.

A large bag of pennies which the children of the school had saved, was given in payment, proving that every child put forth every effort in obtaining musical education. They were more than encouraged in their efforts by M. Lightner, salesman of the Glendale Music company, who, naturally, had a vision of having them wisely invest their savings. Through the medium of the Victrola they will advance their musical education by having brought before them the works of the world's greatest artists.

TO REOPEN STILLMAN CASE

NEW YORK, March 30.—The divorce action of James A. Stillman, multi-millionaire banker, produced another sensation when it was learned the counsel for the plaintiff had asked that the suit be reopened next Tuesday to permit the introduction of testimony from Mrs. May Handy Potter, step-mother of Mrs. Stillman.

Mrs. Potter has just returned from Paris. Hereafter it had been assumed that Mrs. Potter would support her stepdaughter and assist her to prove the legitimacy of her son, Guy. Counsel for Stillman have announced also that they will present additional proof Saturday why Mrs. Stillman's application for $6,000 expense money should be denied.

RETURNED OVERSEAS RELIEF WORKERS TO TALK HERE

Young Women With Records for Heroic Work to Give Bits From Experiences

A Near East Relief "field day," with lectures by the Misses Elise Truax, Irene Eldred, Evelyn Truax and Gertrude S. Pearson and Mrs. Harold G. Hahn, returned overseas American relief workers, is scheduled at the various Sunday schools and church services in Glendale next Sunday.

The young women speakers coming here Sunday, according to Rev. R. W. Mottern, district director for Near East Relief, have heroic records for overseas orphan rescue work and are addressing the largest churches, clubs, civic and fraternal orders in southern California.

Film To Be Shown
"Alice in Hungerland," the much-discussed film descriptive of Near East social, famine and economic conditions, will be shown here several times starting Sunday.

The picture is based on actual scenes and conditions, here disclosed for the first time, in picturesque Constantinople and seared-up cities of Trans-Caucasian Russia and the Near East.

Thrilling scenes include those of 21,000 orphans at Alexandropol, Armenia. They are seen forming the letters "N E R" with a huge star, insignia of Near East Relief, and the Boy Scouts running in between the star and the letters and with their bodies forming the word "America," a tribute to U. S. philanthropy.

Half Million Union Miners to Quit on Friday at Midnight

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 30.—The stage is "all set" today for the greatest tie-up of industry, the nationwide strike of coal miners, now only thirty-six hours distant. Confident that a "great many" non-union miners will join the union cause and drop their tools, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today assumed generalship of the strike movement from headquarters of the union.

Nothing remains to be done, he said. The more than a half million union miners of the country will leave their jobs in union at the stroke of 12 Friday night without further instructions from their officers, Mr. Lewis declared.

Saturday and for days, possibly weeks or months thereafter, it will be a matter of "watchful waiting," in the view of union leaders, who declare it is impossible for any one to forecast the probable duration of the strike. Until one side or the other recedes, it was admitted, it is to be a battle to the finish.

As for the "separate peace movement" among the Illinois miners, international officers let it be known privately that they regarded that as "one farce ended." Gratification was apparent at headquarters over the fact that Frank Farrington's conference with the Illinois operators at Chicago broke up without any separate wage agreement. This, it was declared, assures that the Illinois coal workers will swing their weight behind the strike movement at least for the time being.

Hundreds Initiated Into Ku Klux Klan

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—Between 700 and 800 "aliens" of Los Angeles are members today of "the invisible empire, the Ku Klux Klan," following what is said to have been the largest and most spectacular initiation of the organization held in the west last night in a canyon near Santa Monica.

The location where the weird ceremony was held is one of the most secluded spots in the vicinity of Los Angeles. Approximately 300 clansmen were present in full robe attire while about 200 others were in civilian clothes. The place was well guarded, sentinels being placed at the entrance into the canyon and on the surrounding hills. Clansmen from all southern California ranging from Fresno to San Diego are said to have been in attendance.

The usual routine of the initiation lasted over two hours with the finale being the real feature of the evening. For this, the dedication ceremony, the candidates were massed on a slope which was surrounded by a large white cross. Many of the candidates admitted last night were said to have been young men in their twenties.

Graham & Wilson is the name of the realty firm which opened its offices yesterday at 1120 East Colorado street, near Adams street, in the rapidly developing business center in that section of the city. They will handle general real estate business, rentals, loans and insurance.

Charles F. Wilson has been a resident of Glendale for the past eleven years and is well acquainted with real estate values and local conditions. Ernest W. Graham is from Los Angeles, but has bought and sold considerable Glendale property as an investment and is quite enthusiastic over the possibility for development in this city.

FOR ROADS IN ALASKA

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30.—The senate has passed a bill authorizing the secretary of war to let contracts of $212,500 for road construction in Alaska. The money will be spent in California, Washington and other northwestern states.

A $300,000 church of all nations is to be erected on the site of a one-time notorious dive in the old Bowery district of New York City.

Spring Comes in a Blaze of Color

by Marie Stahl

Color is the most noticeable thing about the fashions for spring. For several seasons women have gone about dressed in black from the top of their hats to the soles of their shoes. All that is now passed and we see color from the tip top of the hat to the colored and often jeweled heels of her shoes.

Nor is color modest about announcing herself one of the chief characteristics of the spring garments. There is nothing modest about it. It arrives in a blaze and a blare, in all the brightest shades and in the most intense hues. It is the first thing one sees when looking over the spring clothes.

Navy is perhaps the most popular color for gowns and suits, though Paris has been quoted as saying that navy is not to be on her color card this year. Yet American women love their tailored navy suits, and every American wardrobe must have at least one smart navy dress hung away for at least a filler for the unusual occasion. That time that comes occasionally into every woman's life when her first thought is: "I have not one thing to wear." Then comes the second thought: "Why there is that navy dress!" and then that grand and glorious feeling that she is all fixed with just the most appropriate gown she could possibly desire.

American designers know all about this. Some of them have had the experience themselves. Others have had the experience of several years of business, and still others have studied the American women and their national taste and the answer is the navy blue dress.

The result is that every display room shows navy dresses. There are taffetas and all the long list of crepe materials, from the heavy crepe to the thinnest of georgettes. However none of them are all navy. Every dress has its dash of color; in some they might almost be called splashes. It may be a piping, it may be a facing, it may be a little corsage at the belt of a bunch of flat applied felt flowers that blossom on the front of the taffeta skirt just above each pocket. One little taffeta followed a fantastic idea and the skirt and part of the blouse were recklessly covered with tiny round disks of color in many colors which gave the impression of its having passed through a confetti shower.

Of course there are taffetas by the dozens everywhere. Not all of them are navy, but many are developed in brown or black, but all have their bright spots where they blaze forth in flamingo, tomato, jade, orange, fuchsia, or some other brilliant color spot. There is a certain crispness about taffeta that makes it a perennial that appears just as regularly as Easter comes around. This year they are made in snug fitting basque effects that have round or square neck lines, short puffy sleeves and short puffy skirts that are made more puffy by rows and festoons of narrow flutings, ruffles or ruffles which are edged with a picot of colored silk.

More color is introduced in medallions of embroidery, in colors and in the metallic threads. Many of these embroidered designs are imported fabrics that are specially made in dress lengths, others are worked in by the designer according to her own ideas and the cut of the garment.

Soft crepe dresses continue to hang straight from the shoulder, and are self girdled by subtle draping of the material and attain an uneven hem line by means of side panels.

Frequently these panels are faced with contrasting color as are the sleeves.

One charming dinner dress made of the new shade Madelon blue is made over an orchid satin slip which shimmers through giving a delightful color effect. The dress is adorned save for the straight double ribbon covered cord that places itself as it ties about the waist.

Coat dresses of cloth and silk are both good, and promise to be quite a feature in every wardrobe for spring. Of the former one of the most striking is a chemise-like slip of dark blue Poirer twill on which has been embroidered an all over design with black ribbon. The sleeves are set in but are the depth of the waist and are patterned after those of a Chinese mandarin and are faced with fuchsia crepe.

One of the new silks known as Ripple Wave is used for another interesting coat dress. The long straight lines of the dress are girdled with a soft taffeta sash and the revers fall back disclosing a vest of real lace, on one side of which is a tiny boutonniere of tiny French flowers. The sleeves are three-quarter length and full.

Foulards and pussy willow printed in foulard patterns are fascinating this year in color and design and will no doubt be very popular for spring. The soft silk lends itself to gracefully draped skirts, unique sleeve effects and combines nicely with plain colored materials in either silk or wool.

For so many seasons the severe neckline, boat shaped and unadorned has been found a very trying fashion for many. Those will rejoice in the fact that many of the new dresses are shown with colors and vestees of real lace, embroidered batiste or organdie. Some of the dresses retain the boat shape neck line, but in the majority this is modified, cut deeper at the front, while others break entirely from it and are square in shape.

Sports clothes seem to be out-doing themselves this spring. In color, fabrics and design. Perhaps the color combination that stands out is red and white. It appears in suits, hats, and shoes. Dresses, made with white blouses that stretch down into red skirts, and red skirts that reach up on white blouses are worn with capes of red. To go with such a costume are white stockings clocked in red and white exfolts that have red heels and red kid applied in perforated designs.

Yellow and white is another popular combination and probably stands second in the season's scale of color schemes for sports wear, orchid being third.

The dress and cape combination is the smartest version of the sports costume. The dresses made on simple lines trimmed with embroidery with white on color and color on white. The cape is of the color used and often carries out the same trimming design in bands of embroidery.

Sports hats are simple. They may be large or small but for trimming they have a cabochon of beads or a band of ribbon. A few are trimmed with short quilts.

Another outfit appropriate for summer sports wear is the slip-over sweater and the checked or striped skirt. In some costumes the order is reversed and the upper part of the garment has all the color and pattern and the skirt is the plain color that predominates in the slip-on. In color and design many of these have gotten inspiration from the Orient as well as from some of the primitive American Indian designs and are rich in color.

Knitted dresses which have been trying for seasons to make a place for themselves in American wardrobes seem to have at last forced themselves in and are to be worn a lot this year. They are more attractive in color and design than ever before and are much better suited to the chic lines of the figure. Many of them are shown with a knitted cape and in the silks are dressy and striking. Suits for street wear are varied in design. Some of those made in dark blues are very close fitting to the waist from which they flare and fall in ripples and points, many of them trimmed with braid tassels and even silk fringes.

Of course there are more simple models which hang in straight tailored, simple lines, some of them box shaped, others held close to the figure with a narrow belt of leather or material stitched. Following this style are many suits of covert cloth. The skirts of all the suits are short, straight and for the most part untrimmed.

Another version of the suit for spring is fashioned on more informal lines and looks like a sports suit. The skirt is made of flannel in a check or plaid design and the coat of jersey or flannel is plain color belted and pocketed with trimmings and collar of the material to match the skirt.

Tweeds and homespun are also combined in plain and checked material and are seen in sports costumes. Some of them are in the skirt and coat suits and others are the dresses and capes. The dresses are made to wear with blouses, or without and the capes are made so that they can be fastened to the back of the dress and worn wrapped about the figure or falling loose.

White flannel is an interesting item in the clothes for spring and is made into charming dresses trimmed with braid or material in contrasting color. Sport skirts too, are made of white flannel to be worn with dark coats or sweaters.

Blouses are made of crepe de chine and georgette in all the high colors with very brilliant designs in embroidery, or contrasts in colored material. They are the peplum type that hang over the skirt and the length of the sleeve varies from the very short to wrist length.

SMART SPRING FROCKS

Without the new sleeve innovations the spring frocks would not have near so many features to commend them.

It is a case of sleeve first, dress second. So, in accordance, the new frocks have been fashioned.

The Materials are mostly crepe effects. Long lines, panels, pleated skirt of modest width and trimmings of beads add the finishing touches, which make this season's styles so attractive. All the new season's colors are here, fuchsia, periwinkle, sand, mohawk and lark. The dresses shown at $35 to $65 will arouse your enthusiasm instantly.

New "Peggy Paige" models in taffeta, crepe Romane and Canton crepe are creating much comment among lovers of the artistic in gowns. At $39.50, $45, $52.50, they represent values seldom equaled.

The New Cape-Dresses are very smart and pretty and hold a favored place for spring. New arrivals are in crepe-knit in combinations of Jade and white jockey red and silver. The detachable cape adds a jaunty touch to these alluring dresses. Priced at $35. Other cape dresses in Canton and Roshanara crepe are priced at $25.

Spring Coats In a Wide Variety of Styles

Capes, too, in charmingly individual modes, are here in a goodly assortment for your approval. The colors are very attractive and the styles are indeed youthful; made of velour, veldyne and Normandy and priced from $25 to $150.

Take Your Choice of Separate Skirts

We say choice because there is such a variety of styles one hardly knows which style to choose. There are stripes, checks, mixtures and tweeds, in wrap around and fringed models that are very effective, ranging from the practical skirt for business wear to the sports models for out of doors. Priced at $9.50, $11.50, $15. Twenty new numbers in silk skirts are just now in stock showing many of the new weaves originated for this season, beautiful lustrous materials of wondrous charm fashioned into the best liked models of the season. $10, $12.50, $17.50, $25.

CORRECT WEAR for WOMEN

Topping all is the New Spring Hat

by Marie Stahl

Topping all fashions are the hats and never has a more colorful, a more varied, a more delightful line appeared than in the spring of 1922. The hat is undoubtedly the woman's crowning glory though it may seem bromidic to say so. It is the frame in which is set the picture of her face, and should be so chosen in line and color as to set off the face to the best advantage.

This season there will be no difficulty in finding a becoming hat for every face and a complementary color for every gown, for never has millinery been so varied in size, shape and color.

There are large hats and small hats; hats that turn up; hats that turn down; hats that do both. The first glance is bewildering. First because there is such a brilliant display of color, then one notices that color and fabrics are used as they never have been before, that one hat carries all the shades of the spectrum beginning with yellow and running down through all the greens and blues to violet, and up again through all the reds and oranges.

Of course when so many different colors are used, no one appears in its full intensity, but in the most delicate hues. Sometimes the brim consists of many layers of georgette or tulle, each layer a different color. Again the shades are masses in a large bunch or wreath of flowers, or they may be worked into an embroidered facing that covers completely the turned back brim of the small hats.

Ornaments designed and manufactured abroad are coming over in large cases to trim the spring hat of Miss America. They are made of many different things and give as many different effects.

Beads still are good and with cabochons form many a fancy rosette-like ornament from which hang strands to dangle from one side of the brim or to circle the crown. These are in brilliant reds, blues, yellows as well as ivory and jet. Some are made of a composition that closely resembles mother of pearl and is known as claire du lune.

One of the newest versions of bead trimming is a rosette and fringe of aluminette beads. These are gaily colored, perhaps an inch or more in length and each is tipped with a silver bead, suggestive of the sulphur end of the match from which it takes its name.

Little three-sided wooden beads come in many colors and lend themselves as a very attractive motif in the embroidered sports hats. Strings of them pass around the crown and hang in tassels off the sides. A large hat of ciré satin developed in citron is new and so smart this year. A band of embroidery adorns the top edge of the sweeping brim and color spots are introduced by means of these three-sided wood beads in citron and dull blue.

Feathers too are good. All kinds of fancy quills, natural quills glazed, quills made of ribbon, celuloid, of ostrich, of various composition materials are seen jauntily perching across the front or side of many a street or sports hat. Sometimes they are drawn through slits in the crown or brim.

Birds too, are good and come in flat shapes to be applied to the crown or brim of the hat. Parrots made of feathers in realistic colors are perhaps the favorites though many fanciful ones are shown, gayly painted on perforated silks and combs that are among the smart trimmings of the season.

One smart little suit hat is shown in milan of the new Algonquin red. The individuality of the hat is really in its shape and it is simply trimmed by two flat feather parrots that are applied facing each other against the crown with their tails hanging off the brim at the sides.

The hat for street and suit wear for earliest days of spring is small or medium and while some are shown in black, navy, tête de nègre and other dark colors, by far the majority are very vivid in hue.

Of larger proportions is a mushroom sailor of navy blue in a combination of straw and satin. The crown is large and flares a bit at the top in a most becoming way and a spot of color is added by two flowers that appear at the edge of the brim, two water lilies, one yellow and one white, with two large green leaves beneath them.

For the very first showing appear small suit hats made of changeable taffetas in all the high colors, particularly in the oranges, corals and fuchsia shades. The taffeta is shirred or plain over smart little toque shapes that turn from the face or cap about it and they are trimmed where the trimming will appear to the best advantage in bunches of fantastic fruit and flowers which reflect a wide range of imagination on the part of the designers.

On close examination many of them prove not to be flowers at all, but suggestions only, made of frayed bits of silk and gathered into little bunches like rosettes.

Taffeta, faille is also good and many of the dressy sports hats for country club wear are made of this silk and assume large sweeping lines and are trimmed with large flower-like rosettes made of the same material as the brim.

Others depend entirely on their own lines for smartness and are trimmed with embroidery done in beads of different kinds combined with ribbonzeen.

Transparent and the lighter weight straws are in favor this spring and one made in black, Napoleonic in shape and trimmed at the front with a large round cabochon rosette made of black satin ribbon with a gold edge. Through the center of it is stuck a long fancy jet pin.

Flowers on this year's hats are surpassing any that have ever been seen before. The blossoms of 1922 are not realistic. For the most part they are very imaginative, fantastic. They are made of silks, and georgettes in all kinds of shapes, colors and sizes, and gathered in bunches of every shade and hue. Many of them are fastened to the crown or brim with beads and heavy floss or ribbonzeen which lends variety of color without changing the silhouette of the hat itself.

Other flowers, if they can be so called, are really just folds of ribbon, of material, of even straw, wrapped round and round to give the effect of flowers. Again petals cut from fabrics are gathered about a center of frayed straw and look like flowers of a new and interesting species.

One beautiful model shown for dressy sports wear shows a brim and crown of timba braid in harmonious shades. It is faced with georgette on the under brim and at the front is a large bunch of flowers made of many pastel shades, gathered into cup shaped flower effects, the edges stitched with contrasting ribbonzeen.

Tricorns are universally becoming and perennially stylish. This year they appear in new lines and are particularly smart in black and darker colors for the early spring tailor. Made of satin or of straw they are trimmed around the upturned brim with bands of embroidery.

A striking version of the tricor is made of white and black interwoven to give a checkered effect. It is trimmed at one side with a large black feather ornament.

A vivid tan of chiffon and viscra braid is trimmed with a jeweled pin at the front and is smart and practical for the windy days of early spring.

In this day and age clothes for tiny tots are as carefully designed, are as much the inspiration of artists as are their grownup sister's and brother's. Every type of youngster has been considered this spring and infinite tenderness and understanding have been put into the designing of their new clothes.

Little folks of discerning tastes often find the styles of their cunning frocks and suits somewhat limited by what grownups call "suitable for children," but this season their fastidious desires may be freely expressed and given free rein in the realm of colors. All colors of the rainbow are being used, and also those older shades, which have hitherto been confined to grownup's apparel. Even black is now very often used for the most serviceable play frocks.

Today, mothers have more pleasure in selecting little brother's and sister's clothes than in the planning of their own for they realize fully their importance in the development of the child, and that the precious imagination which makes childhood's days the happiest must be understood and sympathized with. The designer realizes this, too, and creates rompers of bright yellow with tiny downy ducks chasing each other in applique over the surface of these cunning garments.

As much ingenuity is expended on babies' clothes as on the clothes of children ready for school. Almost every shop now has a room devoted to babies' wants, and here everything for the youngest member of the family may be found, from a rattle to a high chair. Of course, the tot's clothes are given most attention and this spring the models are unusually lovely, coming in many new and exquisite materials.

Little hand-made garments are as ever the choice of many mothers, and these are fashioned of a much finer batiste than was ever used before.

Their daintiness leaves a lasting impression, for the embroideries are exquisite, lace and drawn work are very effectively used, and also tiny pin tucks and French knots are much in evidence.

The cunningest little capes for babies are fashioned of organdie and show as their trimmings, real lace edgings, pin tucks and feather stitching. Organdie has proved more successful than batiste for bonnets too, as this material with its crisp daintiness retains its shape.

When baby goes to a party she is dressed in pastel shades or white and though her choice in colors is limited, she does insist that her little frock be fashioned of either dotted Swiss, organdie, crepe de chine or French voile. She is not limited to one trimming either, but may have it embroidered, hemstitched, or smocked this season, or if she prefers, lace edging, self ruffles, or applique.

Littlest sister, who is past the crawling age, may find her party frock as elaborate as her big sister's, if she does not favor the simpler styles especially designed for her. It will probably be sleeveless, and, if it follows the mode of so many, will have open work at the shoulder seams. Her play dress, however, is most often made of pongee, English print or gingham, and to these little dresses there are almost always attached bloomers of the same fabric.

One of the shops shows an unusual little frock of dark blue linen. Its bonnet of self material has a childish strip fastening under the chin. The clusters of field buttercups caught at the waist and on the hat might have been gathered by little hands and applied to suit the youthful fancy.

The simplicity of the two types of frocks requiring bloused guimpes is very smart indeed. There are those made with bretelle suspenders from the waist line up and those that originated from the women's sleeveless frock of last year. Although most of the cunning little bloused guimpes worn with them are white poplin or soisette, checked gingham makes adorable little tailored blouses. And these are finished with tiny plaited trimming just like mother's.

A cape is very essential to every little girl's happiness this spring. Many of them are the little Red Riding Hood type and some even resemble hers in color also. In others the hood is omitted, and instead a jaunty little hat of some soft fabric is worn.

Whatever the frock or the age of the child wearing it, its simplicity of design stands out as nothing else does. In that respect, clothes of tiny folk resemble grown-ups more than ever before. Moreover the younger generation today seem, even before they reach the sub-deb age, to have acquired a discriminating taste that is hardly excelled by their parents in the selection of their grownup wardrobes.

With Best Designers

The cape, a most practical garment, retains a high place in the spring mode, although the silk coat promises to be a rival.

Brown shades, from beige to dark seal, are proposed as a substitute for black for daytime wear by many of the prominent designers.

Beige in several shades is a popular color and lends itself to the contrast that spring designs feature.

Crisp taffetas are again popular for spring wear.

White chudda cloth, one of the newest of wool crepes, and rose organdie is combined for an attractive two-piece sports frock.

Kasha, which closely resembles camel's hair in texture, is still a favorite material in both white and colors for sports wear.

A decorative accompaniment for the evening frock is the new spring fan of painted organdie, with flower designs.

Daring simplicity marks the smart three-piece sports costume of tweeds, including the straight skirt, jacket and cape, the latter usually being lined with a brilliant color.

The day of the mode continues even after the dance, turning its attention to attire for the hours of de-shabille. Its latest creations include black satin pajamas with blouse of yellow and green printed satin, or other equally attractive colors.

CHARMING EVENING FROCK

A rose crepe tunic, with oddly shaped side pieces caught at the low waistline by roses of crepe, is worn over a slip of rose chiffon in an evening frock of unusual charm.

LINGERIE FRILL IS BACK

Many indications of the return of the lingerie frill as trimming for cuffs, collars, pockets, and the like, is found in the spring mode.

WHITE SUIT, BLACK BELT

An interesting suit is of white cloth with the long waistline of the season's mode emphasized by a wide black leather belt.

This spring you have almost unlimited opportunity to express your individual and original ideas in your footwear. Never have there been such fascinating novelties, such captivating pieces of femininity! The shops are showing the simple and elaborate, the naive and sophisticated, and the result is that more and more the fashionable woman is expressing her personality, her charm in her footwear as well as in the costume she wears. No one style is decidedly the thing. The toes of one's shoes may be broad, slightly rounded or pointed.

More in vogue than anything else perhaps is the patent leather shoe, either pump or low-heeled oxford. The pumps with extremely low heels are much worn and have but one strap while those with Spanish heels almost always boast of three. Very smart, indeed, is a pair of patent leather sandals with Spanish heels, stitched in brown. A cunning little rhinestone buckle catches the two straps over the instep. Another pair of slippers also fashioned of patent leather and kid are very unique. Lattice work of the patent leather literally covers the foundation of cream-colored kid.

As usual the shoes worn on the street by the smartest women are custom made oxfords of heavy Russian or Norwegian calf with perforations. Most of them are severely tailored with slightly rounded toes.

There are some deviations, however. For instance—some brown oxfords show unusual cutout patterns of tan suede. These are essentially for sports wear.

One shop features a captivating pair of sports oxfords made of red kid with distinctive strips of patent leather trimming them. Others almost as unique come in red combined with black or white. There was much exclaiming, too, over a pair of white buck sports shoes, for they boasted of green heels, with straps of green.

Sandals for afternoon wear are as much worn as ever, but they are made more unusual by much applique or cutout designs. Cossack boots of white kid are selected by those who are forever seeking what is most novel and extraordinary. They have wide turned down cuffs with many perforations.

Too much cannot be said about the new evening slippers—for they are the loveliest, the most colorful in many seasons. The sparkle of jeweled heels is often seen on hall room floors and it is breathed that some heels are even studded with real stones. Almost all evening slippers are in sandal style, many of them sparkling metallic gold and silver brocaded effects, while others have an occasional bright metallic thread woven into a beautiful colored cloth. These are always worn to match the color of the gown. An alluringly feminine sandal, one of black satin, has been embroidered in the loveliest shades of lavender and green imaginable, with cutout designs on the heel showing the same shade of green.

Paris reports unabated interest in chiffon silk hose for spring and summer wear. These will be worn on the street as well as for afternoon and evening affairs. The vogue for light gray will persist throughout the season, though it is predicted that flesh color and beige will relieve the monotony. Very smart Parisian women have taken to wearing sheer Russian calf and navy colored hose with black shoes. They also still favor for street wear combinations of silk and wool with embroidered clocks. Clocks will appear on almost every kind of hosiery this season—the narrow openwork clock for the sheer hose and for the sports hose, clocks embroidered in contrasting colors.

New Lingerie Reflects Spring's Loveliness

by Dorothy O. Durant

The more fastidious a woman is the more carefully she studies her type and dresses according to it.

Whether she be an exotic or a typically American type, whether she has the dignity of a Queen or is a fairytale, naive little person, she will always delight in the selection of new lingerie, and be most concerned in the quality of the materials and character of the workmanship.

Then of course design is to be considered, and becomingness. These considerations not only have become of vital interest to the woman of discerning taste, but how she revels in designing, in planning these exquisite bits of sheer loveliness, where her imagination and love of the beautiful can be given free rein.

Because laundering soon wears out the most practical lingerie, replenishing supplies is necessary almost as often as new designs are introduced. This fact gives the woman who is always searching for the novel in everything a sensible excuse for visiting the shops in the springtime and selecting what is newest and most appealing. However, the more staid and conservative person having determined her type in lingerie as well as gowns prefers to conform to certain materials and trimmings and cares for few innovations in style.

After all is said, what one wears is reflected in mood and temperament, and most of all what one wears underneath. It must be appropriately in harmony with the costume, just as the costume must be suitable to the occasion.

The negligee, most adored of feminine apparel, and most frivolous, has its place in the hearts of all women, and even the so-called feminist finds in it a subtle means of enhancing her charm and in her boudoir in her more intimate moments alone, it can transform her into quite a fascinating feminine sort of person.

Spring has brought the most enchanting and exquisitely lovely negligees we have known for many a day. Some are unusually original too, for instance, Paisley prints are being combined with plain colored crepes de chine for boudoir robes, the vogue for an unusual sleeve making this effect particularly nice. The black negligee still persists and is reflected in the long waisted, bloused robes, that fasten with a single flower of crepe, and show linings of bright color. In the more unusual negligees the Spanish shawl is not forgotten, in colors or black, embroidered and fringed and draped into wrap form. Two shades of chiffon, hemstitched together succeed, in a naively simple but unforgettable garment for one's intimate hours. Chiffon or ribbon bands cross in front and tie at the sides under a long, transparent coat, which hangs gracefully over an accordion plaited skirt of the chiffon. Not to be forgotten is the chiffon negligee of a pastel shade with picoté ruffles at neck and sleeves and the skirt fashioned of multitudinous small ruffles of the chiffon. This is especially becoming to an ingenue type and every debutante or young bride should have such a distinctly feminine negligee in her wardrobe.

When selecting a negligee, one is so entranced with the fascinating array of colors and the sheer loveliness of materials that one comes near to forgetting that fresh supplies of underthings are needed. Not for long, however, can the dainty piles of silken and fine cotton garments be ignored, for the shops are riotous with the color in these bewildering arrays. Never has there been such a season for color in undergarments.

Perhaps what will first intrigue one on entering a shop will be a set of printed crepe de chine in tangerine colored designs. So simply made and yet so distinctive. The color is carried out delightfully in picoté finishing and narrow picoté gros-grain ribbon trimming.

Everyone is interested in pongee lingerie. Last season it was used in the strictly utilitarian garments because of its practicability, but this season it has been developed in charming three-piece sets of gown, vest and step-in drawer, entirely made by hand. Narrow bias folds of crepe de chine in mauve or peach color are used in finishing the edges and for the narrow shoulder straps. The idea is French and very distinctive.

France sends us many lovely pieces of lingerie, but perhaps the most unusual this season are the faintest of dotted Swiss sets. They are most enchanting, of the very finest, softest quality, with blue, pink or lavender dots on a white ground, with the same colors in bindings. Motifs of drawnwork are the only ornamentation. This spring the sheer French lingerie of fine batiste or nainsook is lovelier than ever. Its sweet simplicity is most appealing. Fine hand hemstitching or embroidery, with edgings of real Valenciennes lace make this type of lingerie so very desirable.

More entrancing than ever are the silken things. If they are tailored their only trimming is a bit of handwork or hemstitching. If lace is used, one of discriminating taste will naturally select those garments with Venise, filet, Irish or Valenciennes trimmings. However, some of the finer imitation laces are very effective, when used in sets of crepe de chine.

The simplest gowns imaginable are often fashioned of crepe black satin in sleeveless style, with deep armholes and V-necks. Picoté is practically the only trimming, except perhaps for a very charming cluster of hand-made silk flowers. The vogue for striking colors is often demonstrated in gowns of this type.

GEORGETTE CREPE WORN

Georgette crepe is immensely popular both for afternoon and evening, and it is still very often beaded, usually with crystal.

FOR WEAR IN AFTERNOON

Midnight-blue corded silk is trimmed with brick red broadcloth and embroidered in blue and gold for a stunning afternoon frock.

Spring Fashion Edict Directly From Paris

Well, what do you think of this? Dame Fashion says that this white robe broadcloth, brocaded with red, is the very latest. The cape effects are declared popular wear for this summer.

Juvenile Fashions This Spring Are Attractive

"O, hum—spring's here again and I 'gotta' make the rounds of the manufacturers just to see that they haven't slipped anything over in the way of new styles."

Honest folks—that's just how I felt when I started out, but the very first line that I went through affected me like a wasp sting to a hibernating bear!

Fabrics—Fashions—Colors—everything combined to produce such a thrill of "newness" and "freshness" that my lethargy vanished like mist before the sun.

Every line I inspected struck me the same way—women's, children's and men's—but I am only going to tell you about the boys here.

For juveniles they're showing the cunningest little middy suits in sizes 3 to 8. These were beautifully trimmed and tailored and made of wash fabrics in a variety of attractive colors. Lots of jerseys in iridescent shades were also observed. What particularly impressed me was the really smart little play suits made in serviceable grays, dark blues and browns—and I mustn't forget some came with short sleeves. Isn't that a clever and practical idea for warm weather?

Summer party suits favor the Oliver twist, our Tommy Tucker, models and one-piece styles with washable satin waists and black and dark colored straight pants.

I think "Daddy" must have taken his styles from the boys this year—you know what I mean, the kinds they call sport suits. And say, just between you and me, he does look a bit youngish and juvenile in the kiddies' styles!

SPRING FROCKS OF YOUTH

Youthful spring frocks find a most pleasing interpretation in tub flannel, kasha, gingham, foulard and organdie.

FAVORITE WITH DESIGNERS

Many of the designers feature the short coat taitleur with straight lines or a flaring paletot effect, and collars and cravats.

New York's assessed real estate valuation is about ten billion.

Spring Suggestions for Good Interiors

by Marjorie Howe Dixon

One wonders how many thousand years ago it was that some amazing philosopher discovered, after years of patient research, that there was nothing new under the sun. This seems especially true of home furnishing, this "nothing new" idea—especially since our newest combinations are but rearrangements of some older period or other, or a happy joining of two or more of them.

Set rules in the selection of drapes and rugs, chairs and sofas, is, of course, quite out of the question. Beyond a sort of generalization about heavy pieces for large rooms, and lighter furniture for smaller ones, there are no real rules. And one may, quite conceivably, take exception to this generalization, and arrange a charming room. So it goes. Immediately an example occurs. A small living room presented light roomy effect and a general feeling of comfort, without crowding, and yet analysis showed its chief piece to be a large overstuffed sofa. The usual long "davenport table" flanked it with a lamp at the exactly right place for the reader. Part of the light effect was due to its handsome Adam fireplace, with its quaint severity.

For sheer charm another living room seems especially appealing, in its Georgian primness. Here, too, a place of prominence with its fringed lines on wool tapestry. One noticed immediately an adorable corner cabinet, with leaded panes and painted ovals in black and gold. A Venetian tip-top table held another corner, while light chairs and a fire-screen completed this cozy room.

Another room that especially lends itself to the colorful and unusual, is the sun parlor or the breakfast room. Wicker and painted wood sets continue favorites. A wide-flung, glassed-in porch rejoiced in canary yellow-and-black wicker. The black was repeated in patent leather cushions—fitted into the seats, as well as loose round ones. Gay cretonne hung at the windows on wooden rings on heavy poles, patterned largely with yellow, coral and black. Candy-striped shades added their note, while here and there were scattered huge blue vases of pottery. A swing, resembling a mattress, that is, it had no back, hung on long chains from the ceiling. And, of course, there were canary birds and aquariums and graphophones and such things to give that little touch of life.

In the breakfast room of great individuality one noticed immediately the interesting hangings, combining plain green linen with a large checker board pattern in cretonne. These hung over scrim glass curtains. The refectory table and its matching chairs were painted in a soft taupe shade. Little insets of cane in the back distinguished the chairs. A handsome yellow aquarium stood on a wrought iron standard.

But color, gay and joyous, is being carried throughout the house, outstripping and replacing old ideas about sombre hues, for certain rooms. A particularly sunny effect was obtained in a bedroom by a judicious use of coral taffeta. The furniture was painted in gray, a warm gray—and its twin beds were ruffly in changeable green taffeta spreads. Lamps were almost profuse—a night lamp set between the beds on a little table, a standing lamp with a coral shade lovingly overhung the chaise longue, while a pair of cunning little fellows lighted milady's mirror. This mirror was pleasantly hung over a long narrow table, allowing an abundance of room for one's comb and brush and powder dish. Coral again appeared in flounced taffeta lambrequins over chintz curtains, while taffeta spread the beds. An interesting note was the use of two small painted mirrors on standards on the dressing table. Still another room rejoiced in a colonial effect, with a perfectly majestic old high-boy in one corner. Gray linen outlined in lavender, made spreads for the twin beds of mahogany, with their low posts with pineapple heads. Quaintly stiff wool flowers decorated the spreads.

A particularly appropriate man's room had an unusual treatment given its anelled walnut furniture. Red velvet upholstered the cushion seats of the chairs and not content there, it must needs spread the bed as well. Where it would afford much comfort a lamp stood, at just the right angle for the writer at the desk. Above the dresser hung an unframed mirror—heavy linen curtains, hand blocked, hung on poles at the windows.

In a very interesting dining room a wall treatment suggested panelled wood, but when one came to examine it, it had been worked out with painted canvas. The furniture, the chairs, and matching table were of walnut with a stained line for decoration. Chair seats were of blue denim, all set about an oblong table, on chest stood at one side with a stunning old flower painting hanging above it in an oval frame. Hand-blocked linen curtains completed the room.

Another dining room rejoiced in tapestry backed chairs of walnut. Primly they stood about the oblong table. A high chest for china had its place just about opposite a low chest for silver. The radiators in this room were cleverly concealed under built-in seats. At one end stood a wide identified buffet, with an equally wide mirror hanging over it. And then, of course, these days, there is the child's room, with its very own furniture and its special style of treatment. Painted wood is in pink with a white line for decoration. A blue and white checked bedspread held its quaint place, and accorded with the equally pretty ging-ham curtains of the same check. One can imagine a child running into that room with glee and making a triumphant dash for the cunning pink tea cart it boasted.

There is a period in a child's development known to mothers as the tea party stage. A cookie or two, a little hot water in a microscopic tea pot and the child is all set to invite all her friends, or all her dolls, to a tea party. This room provided her with a pink tea table and four cunning chairs, for this purpose, so that even the teddy bear need not be left out.

Of course, it takes time and study to get the exact effects one desires in a home, but what could be more satisfactory, or more of a reward for one's efforts, than a tastefully furnished house, each room expressing some phase of the owner's habits and temperament? As surely a bit of music expresses the composer's idea, so surely does the home express the life and tastes of the householder.

Reed Furniture Reflects the Charm of Hospitality

F. N. Bebout, for many years the manufacturer of distinctive Santa Barbara Reed Furniture, has appointed us his exclusive agent for Glendale.

Heretofore this very high grade line has been sold direct to the customer from the Santa Barbara factory, also through their retail store in Los Angeles, now discontinued. This method proved so expensive that a change was made when they found that the line could be sold through dealers at a saving to you of 15 to 25 per cent.

Many California homes have accepted the desirability of Reed furniture as a long overlooked advantage. Distinctive, with its rare grace and artistic beauty, the ever increasing popularity of Reed furniture is due to the extensive field it covers. Practically every piece of furniture you need in your home is made in Reed. No longer is the use of Reed furniture confined to sun porches and summer bungalows. It finds a welcome in the most exclusive homes the year around.

We are showing a small assortment of Reed furniture now and will gladly arrange for your selections from a very large and complete showing.

A surprise awaits you when you learn the inexpensiveness of Reed furniture.

Simpler Styles in Men's Spring Hats

by Chester Feitel

Some folks say the first swallow is the earliest sign of spring, and some say when the groundhog stays out of his hole. There are many and diverse opinions but we don't believe in any other sign than that when the young fellows first appear with their spring headwear.

And that introduces a very interesting subject—what kinds of hats the manufacturers have prepared for us, whether they'll be the kinds that make us snicker when we look in the family picture album, or whether we'll be permitted to continue looking as human as possible.

Let's burst forth in song and thanksgiving, brethren, the arbiters of our destinies (the manufacturers, be it said), have really been most considerate. The best models are easy fitting blocks with medium crowns and conservative brims.

The Fedora or Alpine shapes are most shown but for the younger men dented top and three cornered creases are quite smart. Light grays and fawn with contrasting bands are the most noticeable spring shades, though, of course, oxfords and shades of green and brown are always in good taste.

Straw hats are ready, too. The rough, white sailors are more popular than ever. The majority come with conservative black bands with bows either at the back or at the left side, as preferred; but, contrary to the vogue of last year, colored bands are quite permissible. Some very good looking striped and dotted ones are observed.

Banquets, Panamas and Leghorns are always in good taste and lots of men prefer them for their undeniable comfort and coolness. These, of course, follow the general conservative styling of the season's vogue.

A very smart and distinctly English fashion that has invaded this country for the past few years is the fabric hat. One remembers how dubiously one viewed the first of this ilk that made their appearance and how more and more have been observed year after year. From the quantities and varieties manufacturers are displaying we assume that the vogue will be definitely established this year.

Now, let's not neglect the derby, dear to every man's heart, and the family is complete. Derbies are all right—better than that—they're first-rate when fashion does not decree that they be flat as a pancake or inflated like a balloon. For spring, for instance, they are satisfied to be just good looking headwear and consequently are very successfully natural looking and smart.

Prices have come down considerably—this is actually a fact, and we should be able to buy any kind of a hat, even the ones from the most exclusive makers, at much less than has been possible since before the war days.

TWILL STILL BEING USED

Foulard seems less in evidence than in former seasons, but twill is used to some extent.

Wedding Table Is Set and Awaits Service

By MARJORIE HOWE DIXON

Among the happy traditions surrounding the wedding ceremony is the breakfast with the cutting of the bride's cake for the guests. Its touch of delicate formality leaves a lasting impression of joy and promise. Down through the ages our ceremonies have grown and what one of them is more hallowed than the wedding feast?

Individual tastes vary from time to time but a simplicity and exquisiteness in decoration and service give the greatest satisfaction to all.

So we must keep this in mind when we are choosing our silver, and linen, the crystal, the favors and the menu. If the wedding is in the afternoon, a reception follows at which our guests are served from a long table which can be covered with a plain damask, or fluted cloth. It can be decorated with a crystal or silver candelabrum with unshaded white candles as a center piece and with perhaps a pair of marble figures such as cupids or dancing girls standing at either end. Small silver or glass vases of lilies of the valley can be scattered about the table.

Here we shall display all the dainties in sandwiches, ices, cakes, candies and we shall serve it all in our best Haviland china.

And each guest must have his bit of wedding cake. It is most indispensable. Frequently pieces of the cake are wrapped in small squares and handed to each one ere he departs.

The wedding breakfast following a noon ceremony calls for little more preparation and if the guests are too numerous to sit with the bridal party they may be served in smaller tables each of which is set with complete service and its center piece of flowers. Of course the main decoration of the bridal table is the wedding cake elaborately built, though it is preferable not to have it too high and thus prevent those sitting opposite one another from seeing across. It has been often recommended that the decorations be small and not build up a barrier to conviviality and joy.

The menu can start with an oyster cocktail. If a fruit punch is preferred to pledge the bride and her bridegroom, it can be served in delicate glasses of plain crystal or even with a gold encrusted band if it matches the design of the china. Here is the one occasion above all others where our Haviland, Lenox, Wedgwood and Doulton chinas can shine in all their glory.

We can serve a creamed halibut au gratin or bouillon and sandwiches or a salad and grilled squab, hot biscuits, heart shaped cakes, strawberry ice, nuts, candies, coffee and the bride's cake.

It is always interesting and helpful to have place cards and quaint favors for each guest, such as a vanity case, a gold pencil, a fan, or an intricate charm for them to keep for remembrance.

The choice of decorations and menu for the wedding breakfast is probably the most difficult of the entire ceremony but few mistakes in taste will be made, if simplicity, modesty and refinement be kept uppermost in mind. It is not to be expected that the wedding guests will pay too particular attention to the viands when their hearts and their thoughts are absorbed by the higher emotion of the occasion.

MORE WIDTH IN DRESSES

Dresses have considerably more width, though their silhouette remains slender.

Standardization in Men's Spring Clothes

by Otto A. Engel

Standardization of style, simplicity of modeling and a nearer approach to the lines that marked Men's Clothing of several years ago will feature the spring and summer displays this year.

Conditions in the clothing industry are more settled than they have been since 1914. Factories are running at top speed, wherever there are orders for merchandise, and there hasn't been the hurry-worry of other years. As a result clothes have been made much better; fabrics have improved and more attention has been paid to style.

Like hundreds of other industries the clothing game is gradually getting back to normalcy. The last two years have been hard ones for almost every one concerned and the showing financially has been decidedly poor compared with the figures of the previous four years when good clothes were hard to obtain.

While there has been a trend to simplification, there has been some style modifications, all tending to give men better ready-for-service clothes. Never before in the history of the business have such clothes approached the custom-tailored variety so closely. And as a result more men than ever are wearing "bought" clothes—just because the makers have removed all restrictions as to fit, etc.

Fanciful ideas of recent years are almost entirely discarded. Of course some makers will continue to make freak models, but they are so far in the minority as to be almost negligible in their effect on the present-day style. There is the more conventional note in spring clothes—both suits and topcoats—a note that is more in harmony with the exacting tastes of good dressers.

As in other years, young men will wear something that is not on the regular bill of fare, but such clothes will be only a passing vogue. Even the "radicals" are coming down to earth and predictions are now being made that in a few years the wild ideas in clothes-making will be entirely discarded.

About the only thing that will be out of the ordinary is the four-button sack or semi-fitted coat. The lapel of this model is narrower than last season and the top button is made useful instead of being an ornament. The front on this coat is soft, with very little padding, so that when the top is buttoned the coat shapes itself to the movement of the wearer.

Another extreme idea which really had its inception last fall, but probably will be the vogue among a certain class of the dressers this spring, is the full trousers. By that we mean trousers that are shaped in equal fullness at the knees and bottom. Normally there is a thirteen-inch discrepancy at the bottom. This style follows the English idea to a large extent.

The single and double-breasted styles will continue in popular demand, with the former dominating the field. The double-breasted styles, however, have increased with each year, because makers have put more style into them and have discarded the idea of making a man's clothes look like a sack as in seasons past.

As a rule the coats for young men will continue to show the full-chested effects, but not quite as pronounced as in other years. While the skirts of the coats will be fairly long the flare has been discarded almost altogether—at least it will not be as perceptible as in other years.

Belted styles will be in popular favor with the wearers of sport clothes. Half and three-quarter belts will win the greatest vote, while the spring pleats, much like those worn in golf suits, will have the call. There are various styles to these. Such clothes will be worn a great deal more in the summer than in the spring.

Patch and plain pockets are to be favored, while the crescent-shape pockets are taking a back seat in the call again and it will be single-breasted. They will be very little in the style parade.

The collarless vest will have nothing in the way of trimmings except in the sport or novelty suits.

Among the best patterns are those with stripes, but for business and general wear fancy silk worsted herringbones in gray, brown and blue mixtures will be the vogue as last year. Prominent among the newer styles are the so-called Mayflower stripes in shades of gray, Oxford, blue and brown. They are made of pure worsted all-year-round weight.

Checks which came in several years ago with a rush will be bought by wearers of sport models largely, but there will be such patterns shown in many of the more conservative suits. Shepherd plaids, herringbones in blue, brown and gray stripes, Glen Urquhart, Tartan checks and overplaids will have a strong following.

Men's models are made with either full or half lining, while young men's styles are constructed with French facing and silk piping.

Flannel—the always popular summer fabric—will get its share of the honors again. They are for the most part of dark tones, blues, greens, purples, myrtles, various shades of brown and gray, olive greens and tans, with pin stripes, pencil stripes and two-toned effects.

In mid-summer fabrics Palm Beach again will rule supreme. The makers have gone the absolute limit in putting the best of style and comfort in such clothes. In other seasons pieces of cloth sewn together in any sort of fashion was called a suit. Today it's a different story.

Among other summer fabrics that will be worn extensively are mohairs, homespun, lightweight flannels, tropical worsteds, crases, rich pongees, shantung and habutai silks. Of course there are other breeze-admitting weaves under popular trademark names but most of them are made of materials listed above.

As in almost every year of the last decade styles in topcoats will follow the lines of the suits. This applies largely to the shoulders, waistline and chest. Some of the topcoats will be form-fitting, others slightly body tracing and a third group on the Chesterfield order. There are some belted coats, but not in as great a variety as in other years.

For rainy weather the popular gabardine still holds the stage. The leather coat which went "great guns" during the war, has seen better days.

DOUBLE SKIRTS POPULAR

A tendency to double skirts, or tunic skirts, is noted in many models.

Drift to Economy in Spring Haberdashery

by Otto A. Engel

Back on the road to normalcy—that, in a nutshell tells the story of Spring Haberdashery. Merchandise has been restored to a sane basis; prices, too, have struck the toboggan until today they are almost down to pre-war levels.

The Silk Shirt that cost $25 two years ago is a relic of the past and unless the unforeseen happens prices never will reach those heights again. And with the fabulously priced shirt goes the once prohibitive priced neckwear—the kind that once sold for $8 to $10.

Today a man wishing the choicest quality of silk shirt need not pay any more than $10 to $12, while some excellent grades will be sold around $7.50. With reduced prices prevailing the return to the silk shirt comes easier than ever and if the early business of spring is any criterion for the next few weeks, white silk shirts will be quite popular.

Of course the colored and striped silk shirts will have quite a call, but do not promise to swamp the field.

In white silks the better grades will meet with favor—particularly the baby broadcloths and Jersey knits. Such silks have been found to be unusually durable, stand the gaff of rough laundry work and give almost as much service as a good madras shirt.

The broader striped silk shirts will not be worn as much as heretofore, although there will be a certain class of dressers who will demand them. The tendency is toward the pin stripes, pencil stripes and small checks. And an air of refinement is shown in the patterns. There also is a better grade of workmanship.

With reduced demand in the last year the shirt tailors have been able to give more time to the finer things in their merchandise, such as neater machine work and better fit. At no time in the shirt business has the ready-to-wear product approached the custom-tailored variety so closely as today—that is, in the better grades. Fibre silks will continue popular, but it is not believed the demand will be as great as in the past. This is due to the fact that excellent grades of madras shirts—both domestic and foreign—have replaced them.

The shirt that promises to be worn more than ever is the collar-attached shirt. This season there will be shown a greater variety than ever, with more styles of collars than in the past. The workmanship in these shirts also will be a much better grade than heretofore. And the two-button band cuff will be seen more frequently. Flannel shirts also will be worn by good dressers, particularly the kind of flannel that comes from France and England.

Neckwear prices are as low as they have been in several years—and the best news is the fact that makers have put more style and more service into them. There will be more cravats cut along the straight lines than ever before. That means the silk ties will give the wearer longer service—in fact, will live almost as long as the silk knitted variety.

Among the most popular brands will be the silk grenadines cut along narrow, neat lines to fit the smaller collars which became the vogue in the last two years. Europe, as usual, will furnish much material for neckwear, but America will put the finishing touches to it. Switzerland, France, England and the far eastern countries will help dress the American.

Few changes will mark hosiery this season. Good silks, with clocks and other novel designs, will be worn extensively, while in the early spring cassimeres, camel hair and imported worsted will get a big play. There will be a good selection of silk accordeons and embroidered effects but it is not believed the showing will be as extensive as in other years. The colors will be very much like last spring, but there will be more of the cordovan shades to match the oxfords of those shoes.

Glove styles and colors will remain very much as they have in the past few seasons. Cape, Arabian mocha, suede, buck and chamels in standard colors, or off shades will furnish the bulk of variety for 1922. Spear or embroidered backs are about the only ornamentations that will appear. Pearl buttons are slightly favored over old-time clasps.

In pajamas there really is nothing new. Plain and pattern effects of madras, percales, crepes, chambrays, soisette, fiber silk and pure silk with the French neck will again be in popular demand.

Soft collars, due to the introduction of the Van Heusen type, will win over a lot of starched collared gentry. But the "stiff" collar, because of lowered prices, will have quite a call, particularly the two and three ply variety, measuring about an inch and a half in height.

As for underwear, belts, jewelry, handkerchiefs and walking sticks, there are few changes to be noted.

BEST FOR TRAVELING USE
Clothes for traveling are simple and almost boyish, with plaid coats and skirts and dark belted blouses.

WHITE LINGERIE TOUCHES
Many white lingerie touches appear in daytime frocks.

Styles That Attract

The slip-on sweater of knitted silk with pleated crepe skirt makes an ideal costume for the golfer.

Among the newest and most effective of sports materials are the crepeknit fabrics.

A gown suitable for practically any semi-formal occasion is the one made of black lace and georgette crepe.

Most effective with a navy blue tailleur would be the swagger bag of Morocco in red.

The lengthened skirt and the drape at the sides are the newest points of the mode in evening gowns.

Pongee is one of the newest signs of spring.

A smart envelope purse is of black suede.

The "V" neck-line is already rivaling the bateau neck-line.

Coats for spring are distinguished by three silhouettes—straight-line, bloused and wrap-around coat.

For continuous service the advantage of a suit lies in the variation afforded it by different blouses.

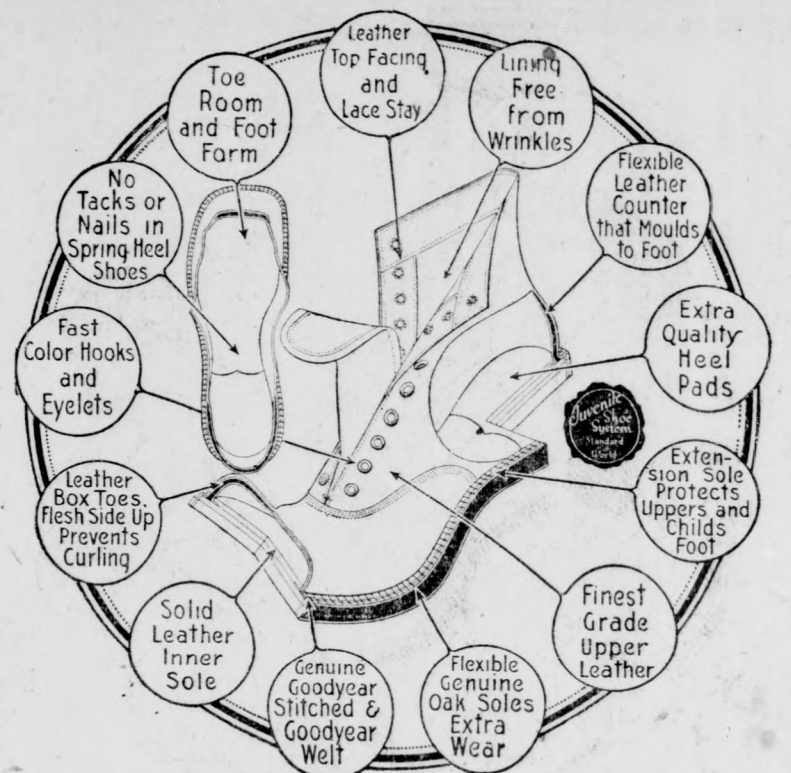

A trailing bouquet of hand-made flowers or a looped girdle of silver and gold are charming accessories that make the simple evening dress a thing of beauty.

Crepe satin with uneven side tunics and trimmed with Chantilly lace makes an attractive tea-frock.

Gray French flannel, bound with white grosgrain ribbon makes a simple and graceful morning frock.

WIDE SLEEVES FAVORED

In advance models wide sleeves seem to be more favored than the long tight variety. Decorated sleeves, it is stated, will continue to be of a contrasting fabric.

Dame Fashion Rules

Flowers have not only invaded the millinery field in large numbers but also appear on gowns.

Black is still a favored color for evening gowns.

Large revers and bell-shaped sleeves are important features of the new suit coats.

The lace dress, which can be worn in the afternoon, evening or for dinner parties is just the thing for the woman with a limited income.

Chiffon is the most attractive fabric for the spring and summer and is splendid for a dinner dress. Satin, chiffon, or moire are the most favored of materials for evening frocks.

Dame Fashion has dictated that for formal occasions this spring and summer one's skirt must be no shorter than eight inches from the ground and for sports and street wear ten to twelve inches is still the accepted height.

Straight lines mark the spring silhouette, relieved by an ever-increasing variety of sleeves of many shapes and designs.

The novelty for evening costumes lies in the bandeaux headresses, chosen to aid by contrast or perfect matching the shadings of one's costume.

An "enroulement" is the name the Parisienne gives to one of the most favored types of evening gowns of the moment, it being of long, slender draped line, folded about the figure to a point below the waist, with the drapery raised on one hip.

SLEEVES OF IMPORTANCE

Sleeves are still of immense importance. They may be long and tight, as they usually are for morning wear, and perfectly huge for afternoon. Most evening models are sleeveless.

THREE-PIECE IS PLEASING

Consensus of opinion seems to be that the three-piece costume, the matching frock and cape, frock and coat, or the robe-manteau, will take the place largely of the more conventional tailleur.

COMBINATIONS FOR LACE

For afternoon there is nothing better than lace. Many combine two different sorts of lace in the same model, others combining crepe with lace, when the large patterned silk laces are used.

IN SPIRAL SKIRT EFFECT

Gowns draped with a spiral skirt effect are being offered for the afternoon, as well as silk and crepe suits by way of variety.

Fewer Novelties in Men's Footwear

As in clothing and some of the accessories in men's apparel there is standardization shown in the spring and summer display of shoes and oxfords this year. Simplicity will mark the new arrivals and with this change lower prices will prevail, lower than they have been in several years.

Shoe prices have been among the last to show a decrease, despite the fact that leather costs have been down for the last two years. This has been due to the fact that labor costs haven't been lowered materially—at least not enough to show in the prices—and labor is the greatest item in figuring footwear costs.

Readjustment has been going on steadily for the last eighteen months until today conditions are nearer normal than they have been since 1914. And with this adjustment makers have strained every effort to cut down the high costs. By simplifying the styles they have succeeded in a large measure.

The novelties of other years have been discarded almost entirely, although there will be a few freak lasts and leathers for the most daring dressers. The vari-colored tops and two-toned effects which had quite a play in other years have been shelved for the time being and unless the fad returns we will see very little of them in the next few years.

In the "freakish" class there still remains a few models of kid shoes that show black lowers with tan or dark brown uppers, but for the most part the one-toned shoes will lead the 1922 parade.

In leathers cordovan will be given a vacation, due to the fact that the non-porous condition of that once popular leather has been the cause of much foot trouble. While cordovan is among the most serviceable of leathers and keeps its shape exceptionally well it has been found wanting in other respects. The cordovan shades, however, will be retained and promises to be one of the prevailing shades this summer.

The lighter tan shades will not get as much prominence as heretofore, but the dark browns will. Blacks, of course, will have quite a following. Coco-brown, mahogany, russet and Havana brown also will get their share of popularity.

The gun metal finish will be the big thing in shoes, with blossom and vicid kid finishes running second.

Among the best lasts the narrow English custom toe and the medium ball shapes toe will be favored by the younger generation, while the wider and more comfortable lasts will continue to be worn by older men, who prefer to sacrifice style to comfort.

Brogues and wing-tipped styles in both shoes and oxfords, which were quite the rage when our soldiers returned from the war and threatened at one time to become an institution, apparently have outlived their usefulness. That doesn't mean that they will be discarded entirely, but it means that their popularity is on the wane. Instead there will be more footwear showing perforations or punched tips.

For early spring spats will continue to be worn by good dressers and the colors will be similar to those of last year when tans, grays, fawns, brown and buck sold in the majority.

For extreme summer canvas shoes and oxfords will have the call, with the Palm Beach shade coming to the front. White bucks will be good for more formal affairs.

SUITABLE FOR MORNING

For the morning, lines are really straight from shoulder to hem, though a slight blouse at the waist, line with a tight band at the hips is one tailleur line which finds favor.

IN NAVY BLUE AND RED

Some interesting coat-frocks are in the popular navy blue and red combination, draped at one side.

POPULAR IN SPORT MODELS

The jersey materials, particularly in silk, are much in evidence for sports models.

Dictates of Fashion

The crisp freshness and clear sweet pea colors of organdie will again find favor this summer with the younger girls.

A white flannel blouse, bound in black string braid, with a flannel skirt makes an attractive costume for sports wear.

For "dress up" some suits will be in taffeta, tipped here and there in organdie.

The hem-line fluctuates up and down this spring, but the low waist-line remains fixed.

White will be extensively worn this spring and summer by every woman, whatever her age.

Paris suits have narrow skirts, but jackets may be flaring.

Ribbon will be used a great deal in trimming this spring.

The low waist line is still popular.

Fashion has ordained white as a rival of the more brilliant colors.

Earrings continue to appear in many new designs and colors.

Red promises to be a predominant color among sports clothes for the spring and summer.

IN USE FOR TEA FROCKS

Tea-frocks of crepe and crepe satin prove the great popularity of uneven hemlines and low waist-lines.

TRIMMING BATHING SUITS

Wool flowers are very smart trimming for a black jersey bathing suit.
